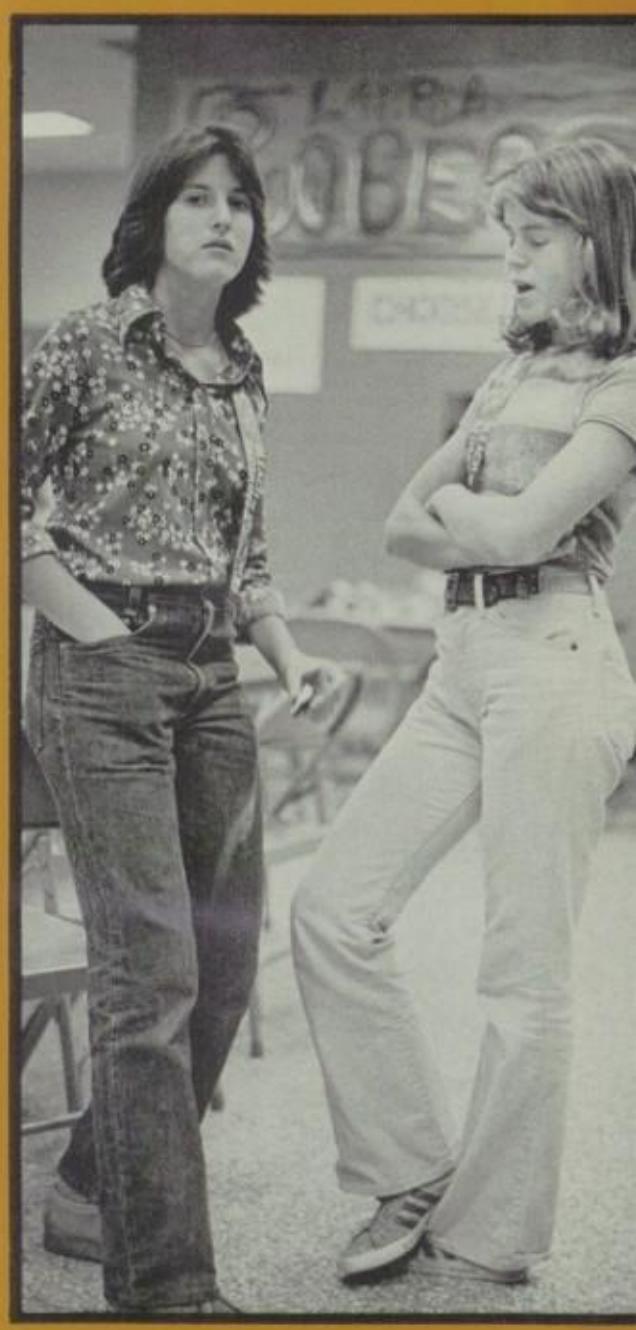
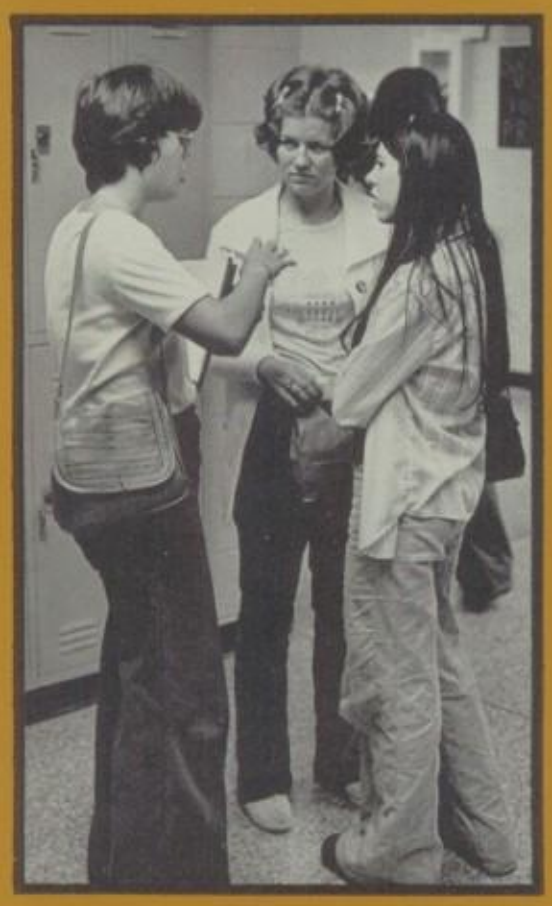
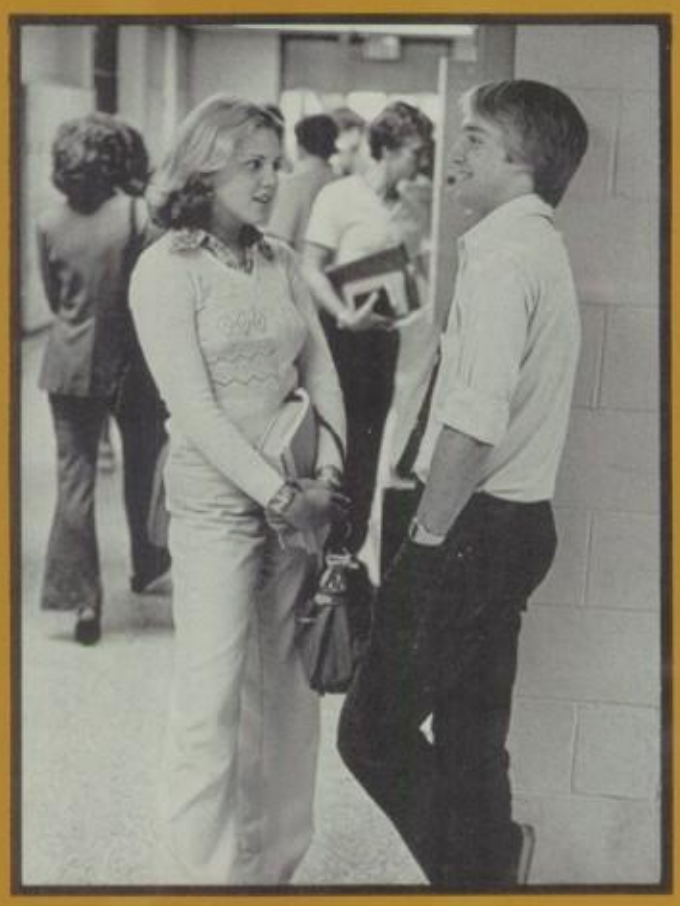
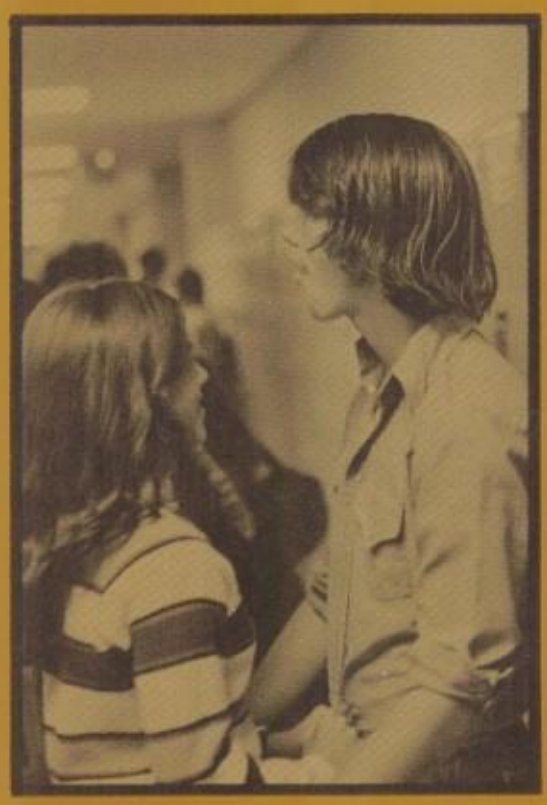
DAYS OF OUR LIVES

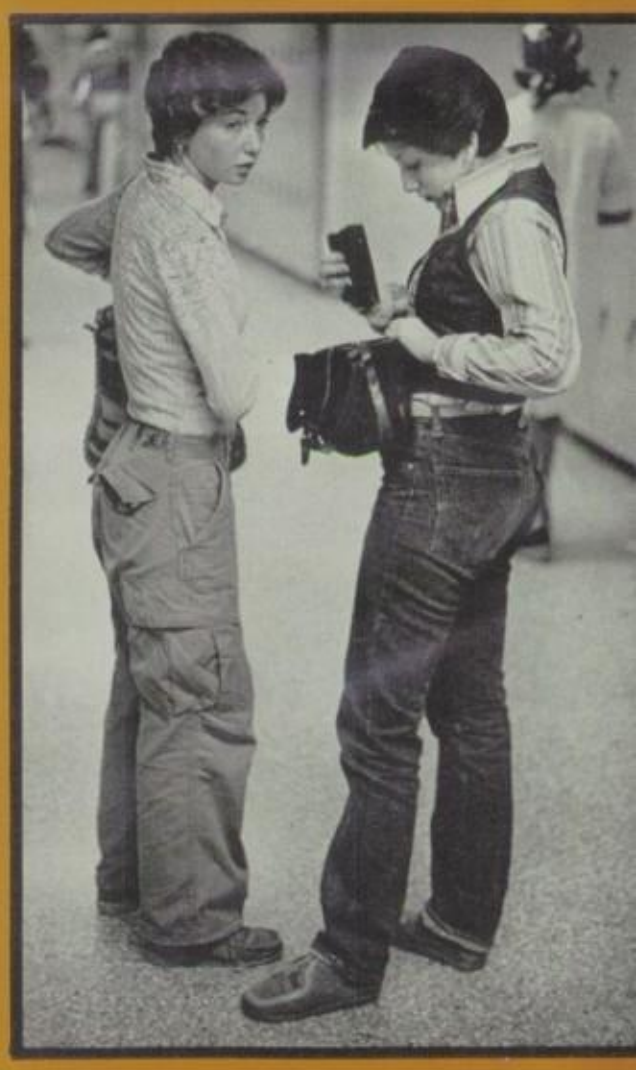
As the day dawns and the brillance of the sun streams across the sky, Riverwood High School is awakened as the beauty of a Monday morning unfolds. The clusters of heavily scented honeysuckle vines clinging to the trees, surrounded by velvety green splendor and draped with thin wispy spanish moss, swaying in the gentle breeze, enhance the serenity of this noble institution. Beyond these deep mysterious woods lie the well-traveled sidewalks leading to the world of knowledge and enlightenment. The solid mass of red brick, fortified by the sturdy support of immobile steel beams, provides the perfect atmosphere for scholarly pursuits. The exact precision with which this concrete well- planned foundation is designed prevents even the most attentive student from escaping into a world of deeper fantasy. Tick, tick, tick, tick, tick, tick, — tick tock. It is seven o'clock, and the desolate halls are seemingly uninhabited. (Thundering organ vibrates)





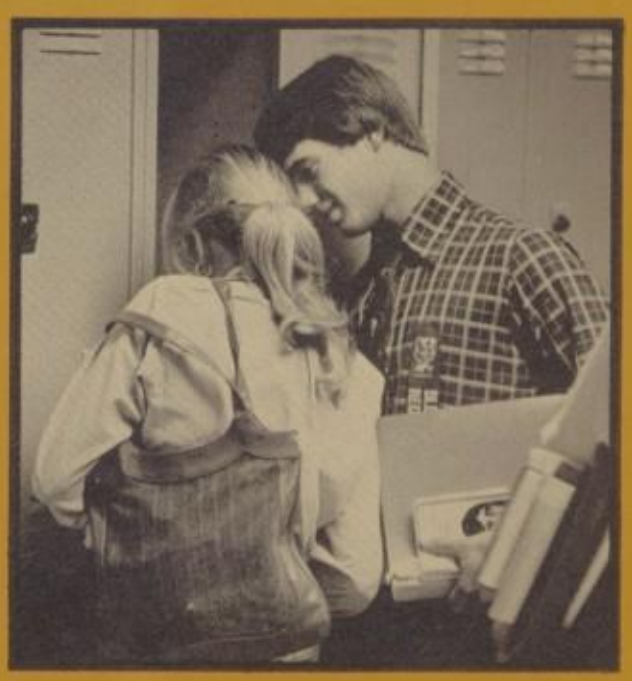


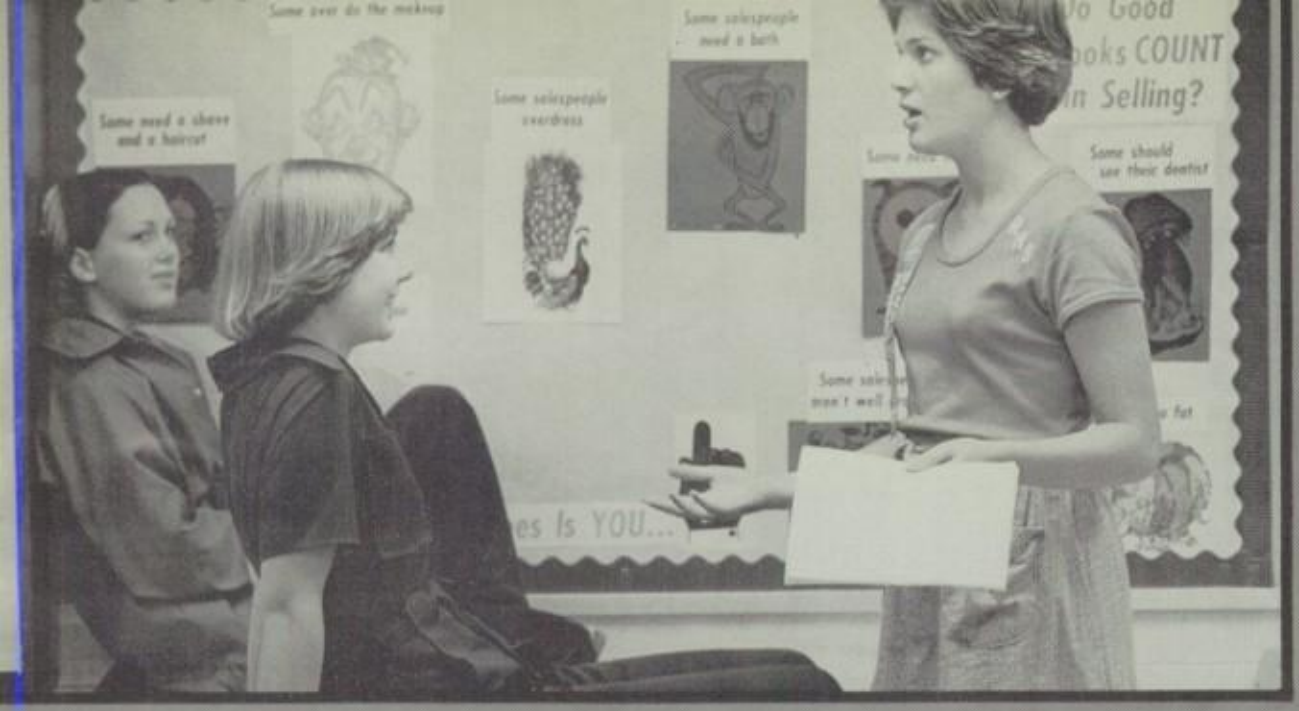




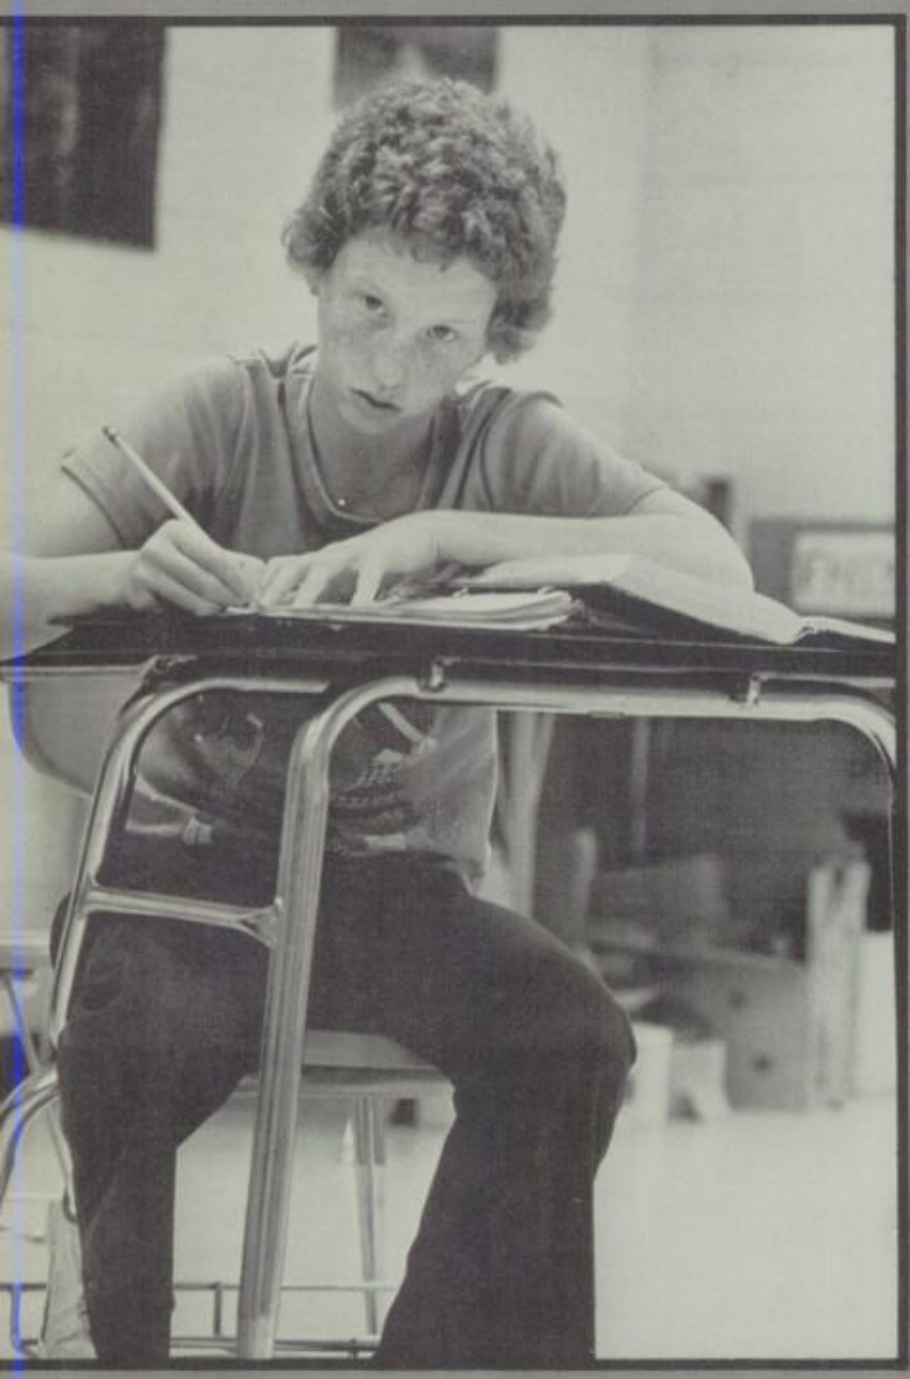
Quivering with apprehension, Priscilla Pinkerton, the dedicated young home-economics' student, and Butch Bradley, the All-American football, basketball, croquet, baseball, soccer, T.V. tag, wrestling, ice skating, jump rope, tennis, golf, hockey, old maid, cross-country, marbles, boxing, tiddlie winks, archery, karate, fencing, swimming, badminton, mountain climbing, ghostie-ghostie, exchange worried glances, fearfully dreading unexpected intruders. Unknown to them, Mabel "the mouth" is lurking among the lockers, taking notes on their every move. "Such a discovery, " thinks Mabel with wild excitement. "It'll be the most shocking incident to hit Riverwood since the cafeteria served filet mignon and sauteed mushrooms for lunch." Mabel's eyes gleam, and she begins to giggle and shake deliriously. The dumbfounded couple panic, realizing that they are being watched. Mortified, Priscilla makes a mad dash for the powder room, and Butch frantically sprints down the now illuminated hall dodging and darting the few who dare to block his path. Hearing the roar of early morning chorus, Mabel stops her insane chuckling long enough to realize it is eight o'clock, and school will soon begin. She waddles down the hall murmuring to herself, "Oh Buffy, you poor innocent child. I've got the most earth-shattering news to tell you . . ."

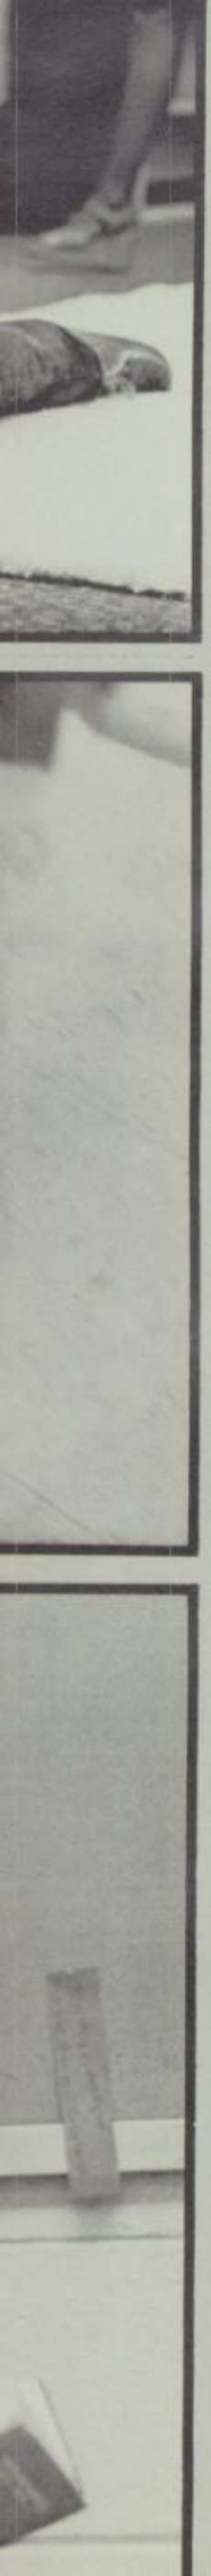
It doesn't take long for the scoop concerning the "Odd Couple" to spread throughout Riverwood. Some students are astonished, others are flabergasted, and many are just plain stunned . . .





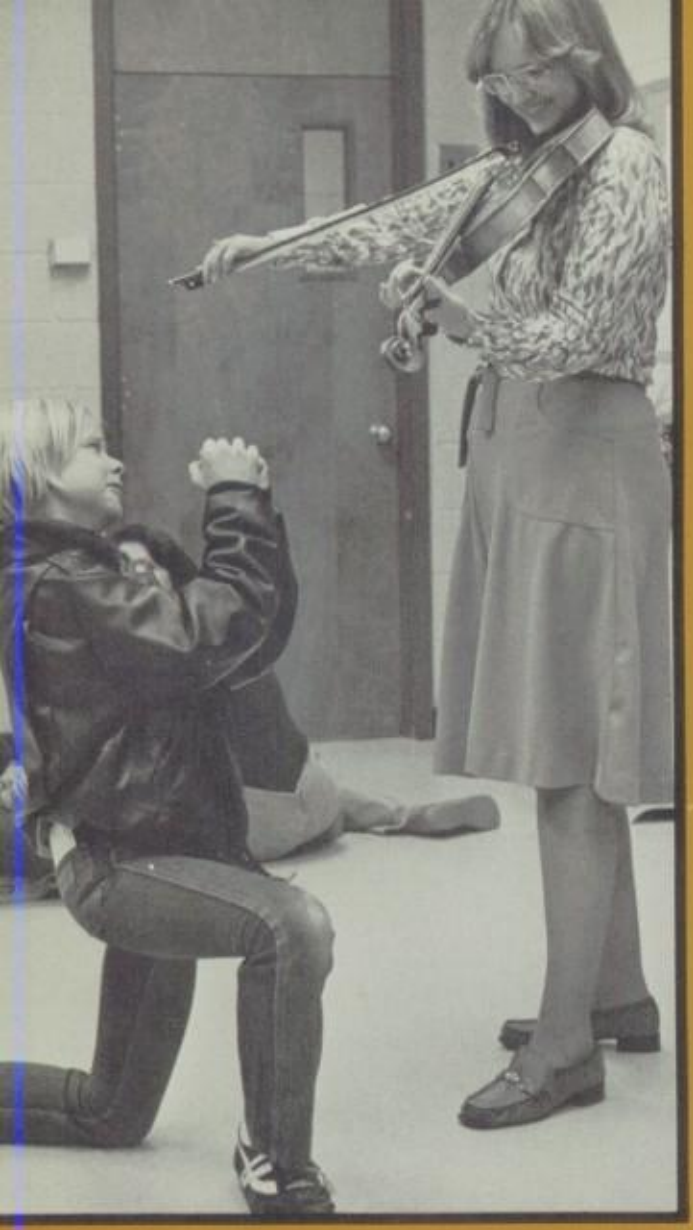
Some need a shave and a haircut
Some ever do the makeup
Some salespeople overdress
Some salespeople need a bath
Some should see their dentist
Selling?
Is YOU...



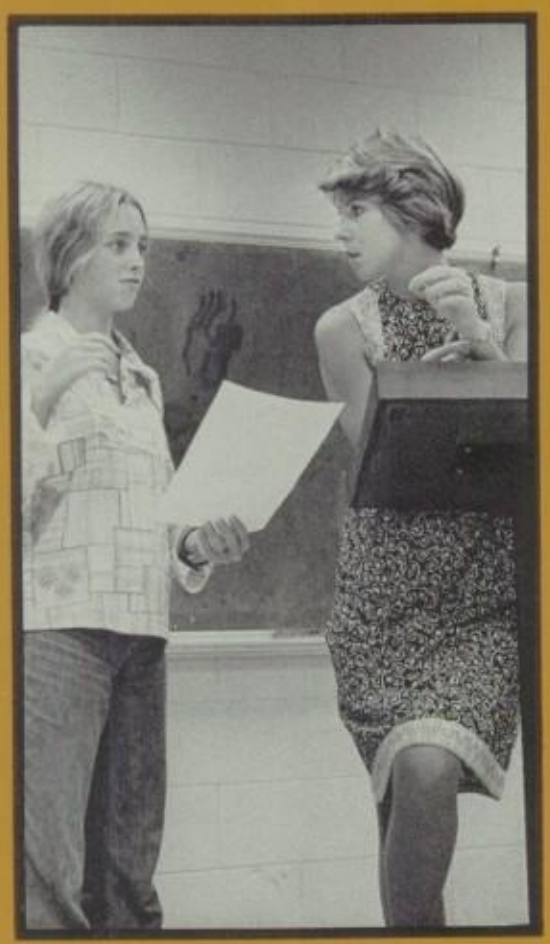


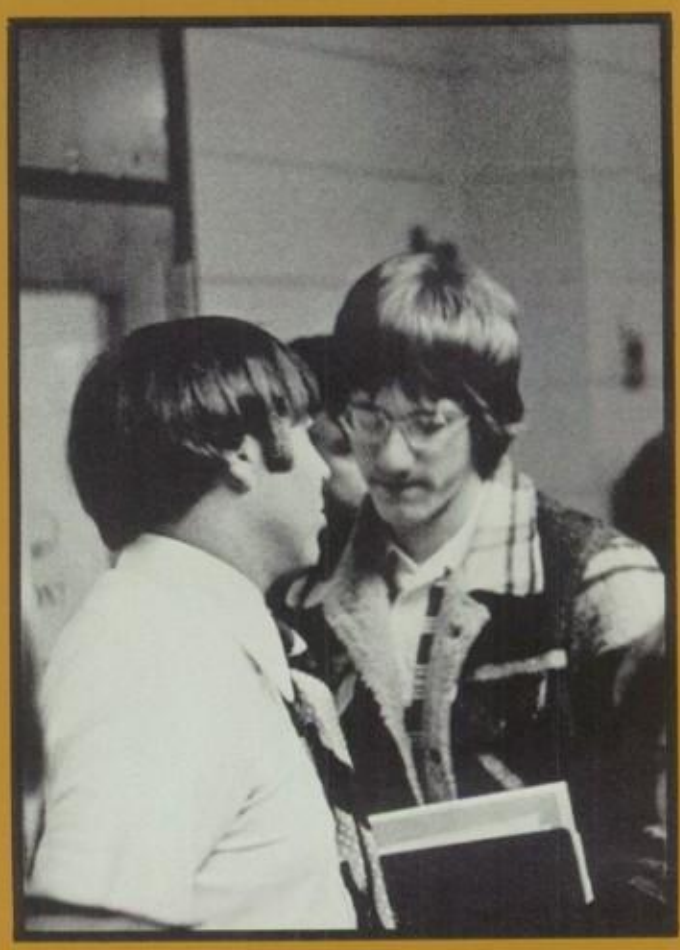
Amongst the confusion, Buffy Brady, "star cheerleader, social butterfly, and teacher's pet" is surrounded by gorgeous muscular males. As Mabel arrives at the scene, she blurts, "Buffy, I hate to have to be the one to tell you the bad news about Butch and Priscilla . . ." Buffy bursts into hysterical sobs, "My love! My life! My reputation!" Her eyes well with tears, but behind her lovely lashes thoughts flash through her mind — "I'll get you yet my pretties." Alas, poor Buffy, fair and lovely young maiden, gently crashes to the floor.

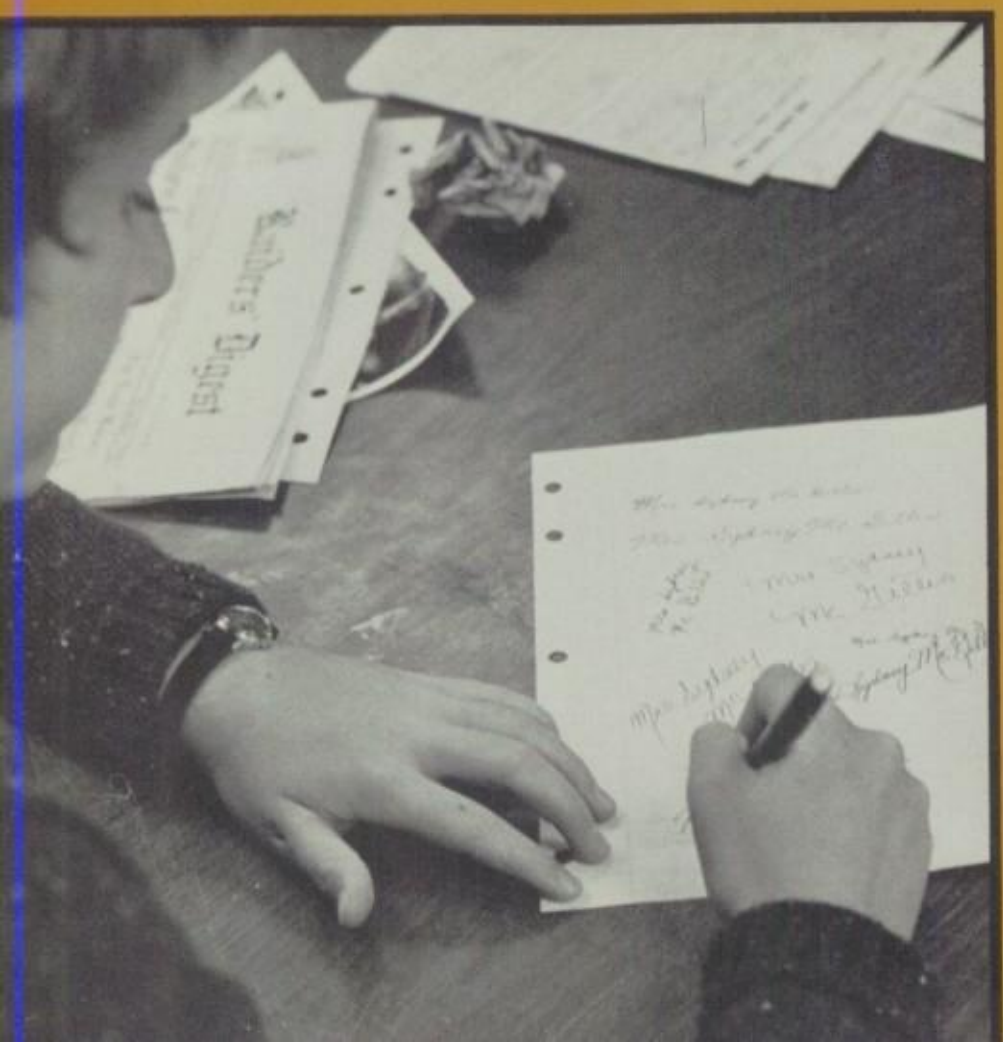
Dashing to the rescue, our hero, Albert Academia Meriweather III has found the golden opportunity to test his skills in paramedics. Kneeling at the side of Buffy, he reaches for his little red Otasco Medical Kit. Placing his plastic stethoscope on her head, he diagnoses her case as acute eczema of the psoriasis. "I strongly recommend immediate treatment," remarks Albert in a sophisticated tone of voice.

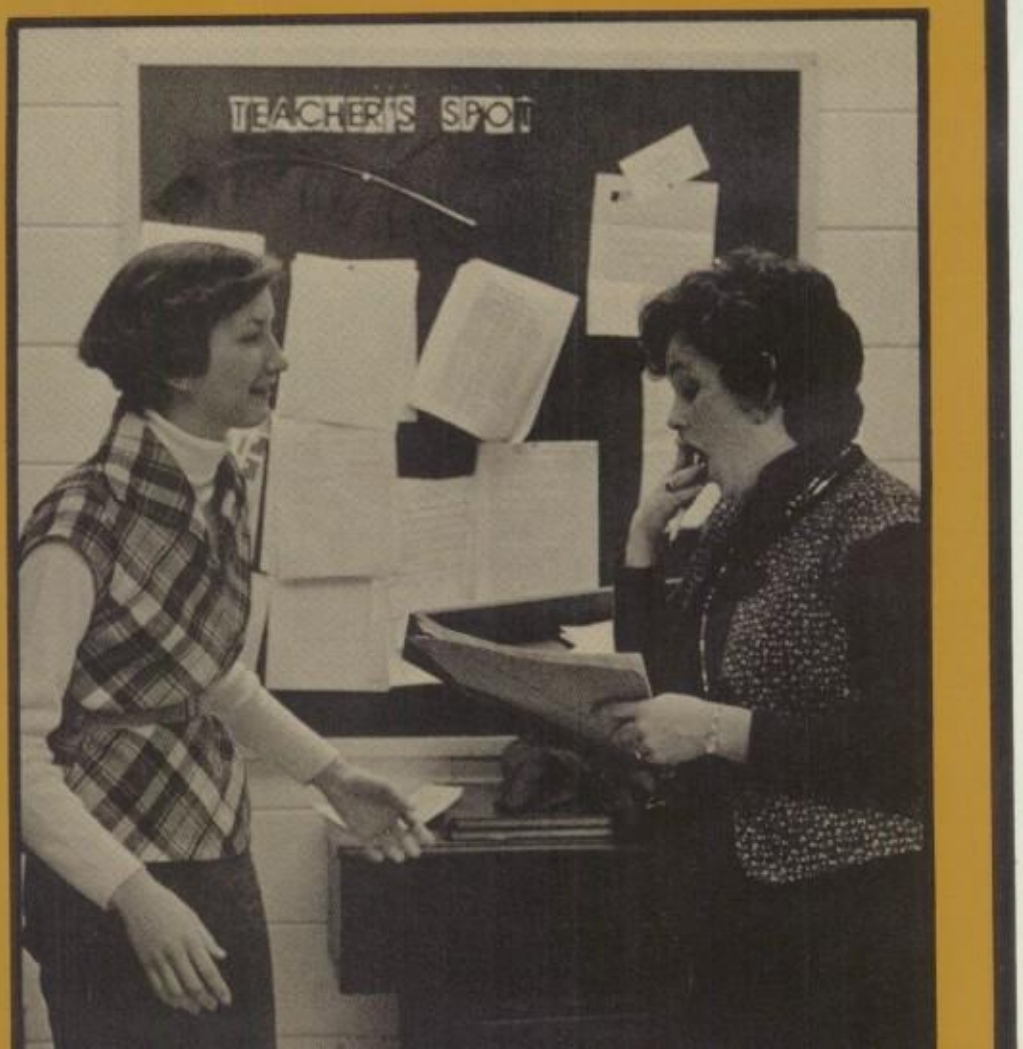


MODERN BIOLOGY







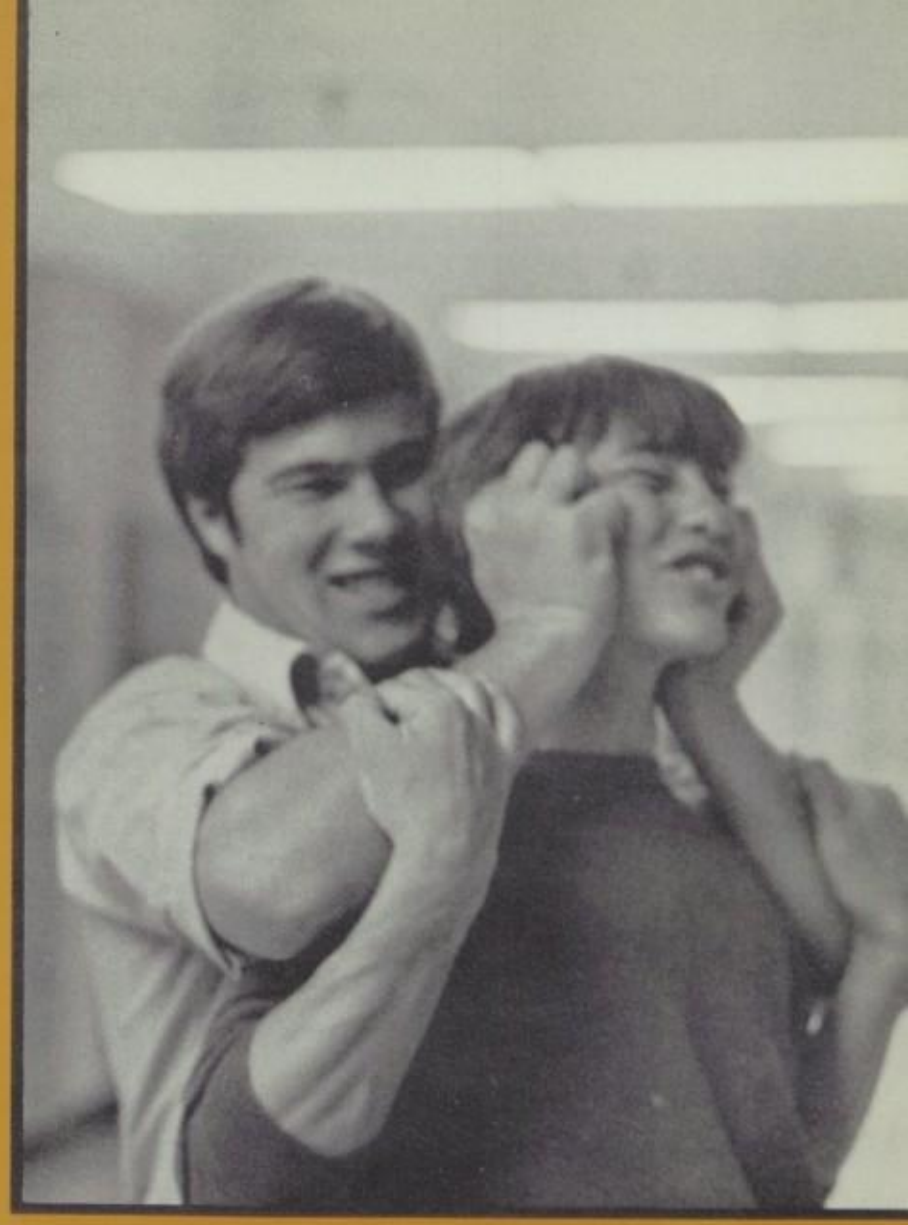


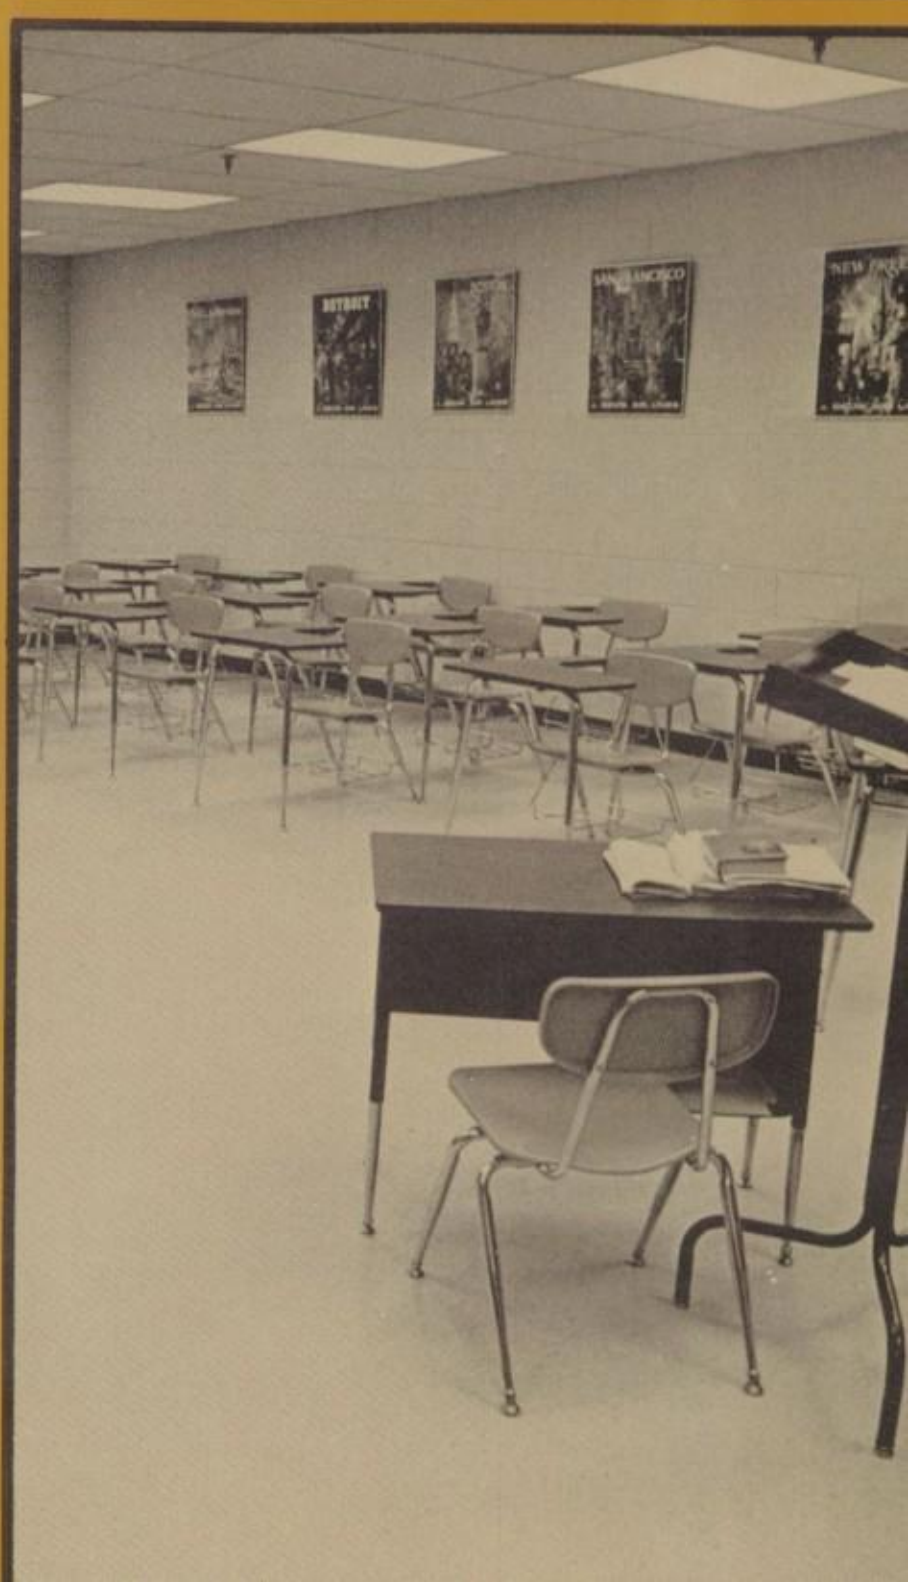
TEACHER'S SPOT

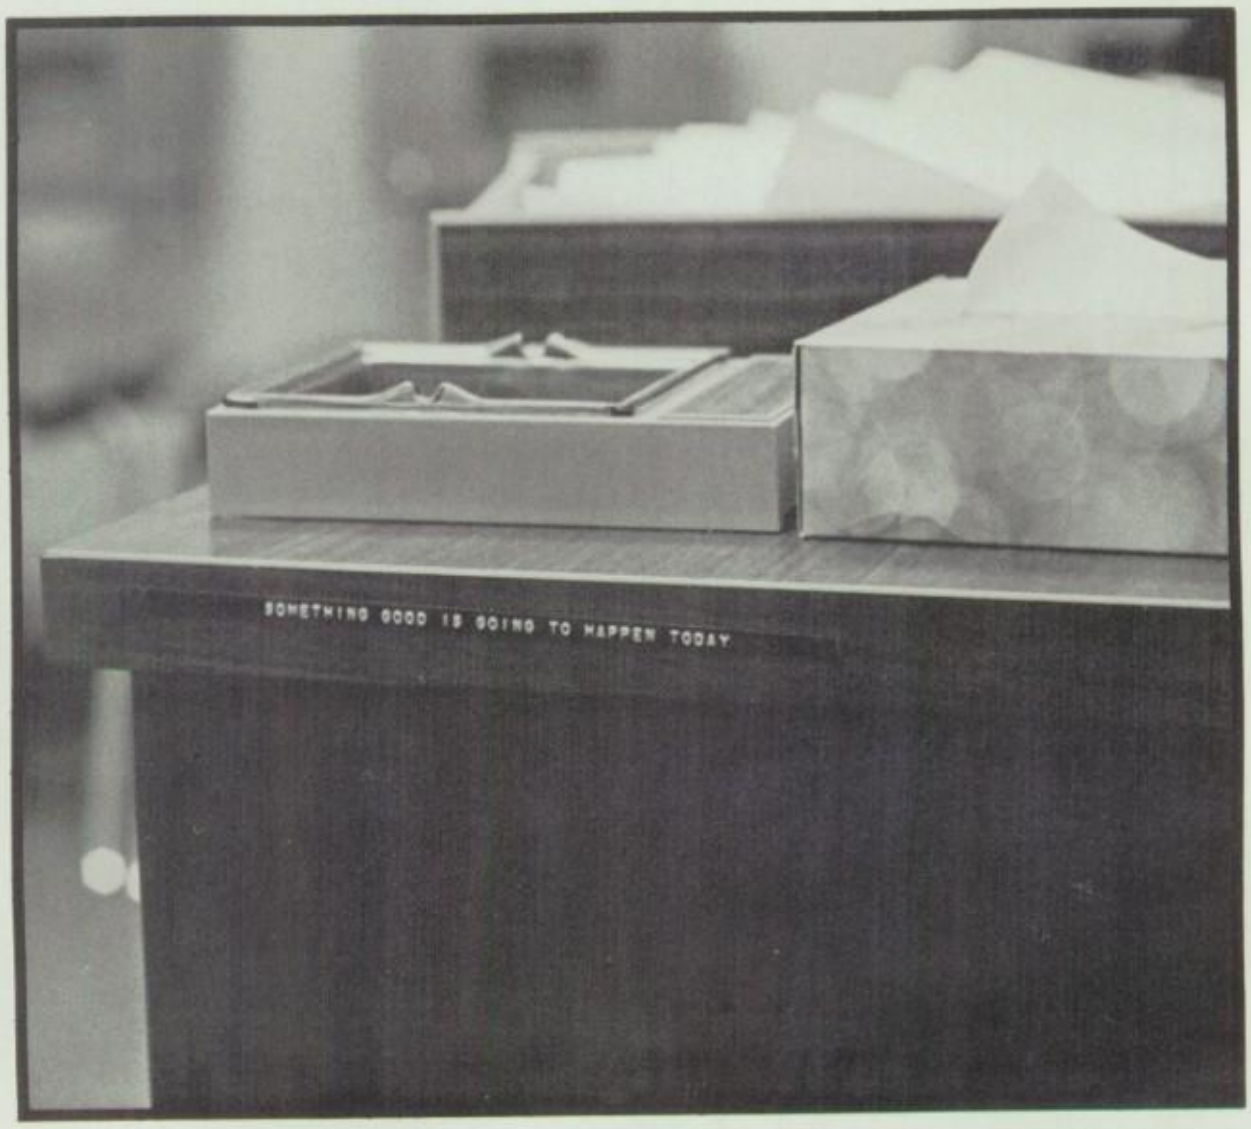
The halls are filled with pushing, shoving, and mass confusion. Locker period has begun. The homeroom bell rings, and Miss Thelma Finster enters her classroom, cherishing the moment when she poetically recites The Roll. To her dismay, not a single voice responds. However, she derives strange pleasure from carefully marking each "x" with perfect precision.

Strolling leisurely into the room, Bernie Carroway, a patron of the smoking area and a lifetime Visine addict, says, "Hi." "Bernie, are you here for homeroom, or do you need extra help on your bubble sheet for pre-registration?" questions Miss Finster. "Wow ... I thought it was a nightmare, but I guess this is school." "Don't you think I deserve a logical explanation for your extreme tardiness?" pleads Miss Finster in a high-pitched monotone. "Well, if you really wanna know ...

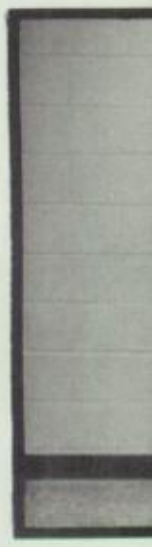
— I got caught in the snow drifts.
— My dad wouldn't leggo of my Eggo.
— I was listening to my triple volume collection of Favorite Speeches by Gerald R. Ford, and I fell asleep.
— I fell in love on the way to school.
— I stepped in an open manhole.







SOMETHING GOOD IS GOING TO HAPPEN TODAY



Listlessly, the dedicated students assigned to Ms. Finster's homeroom shuffle to their seats. Ten minutes slowly pass. Slouched in their chairs, the bodies appear to have entered a state of hibernation. Happily humming, Ms. Finster sharpens thirty No. 2 yellow pencils in preparation for a test on tropical wildlife in Antarctica "27, 28 . . . Oh my goodness! I forgot to give out the all important student handbook." Glancing at the clock, she realizes she must acquaint her pupils with the Riverwood procedures in less than 39 seconds.

"Class, Class, Class?" screeches Ms. Finster, "Please give me your undivided attention. I have a very important announcement concerning the promise and laws that you are required to memorize by next Monday. Should you fail to do so . . .

"The bell rings for first period. Panic-stricken, Ms. Finster wildly flings copies of the handbook into the faces of unsuspecting students. Albert Academia Meriweather III and his eighth grade companion, Clarence Cleghorn Jr., fumble midst the growing masses in hopes of securing this great piece of literature. The two intelligent young men finally come upon a copy which has not been trampled upon. With insatiable curiosity, the boys begin to read in unison. "Riverwood Rules and Regulations.

I. Thou shalt not crawl, walk or run through the library as a means of getting to your next class. It's not nice to fool Mother Woods.

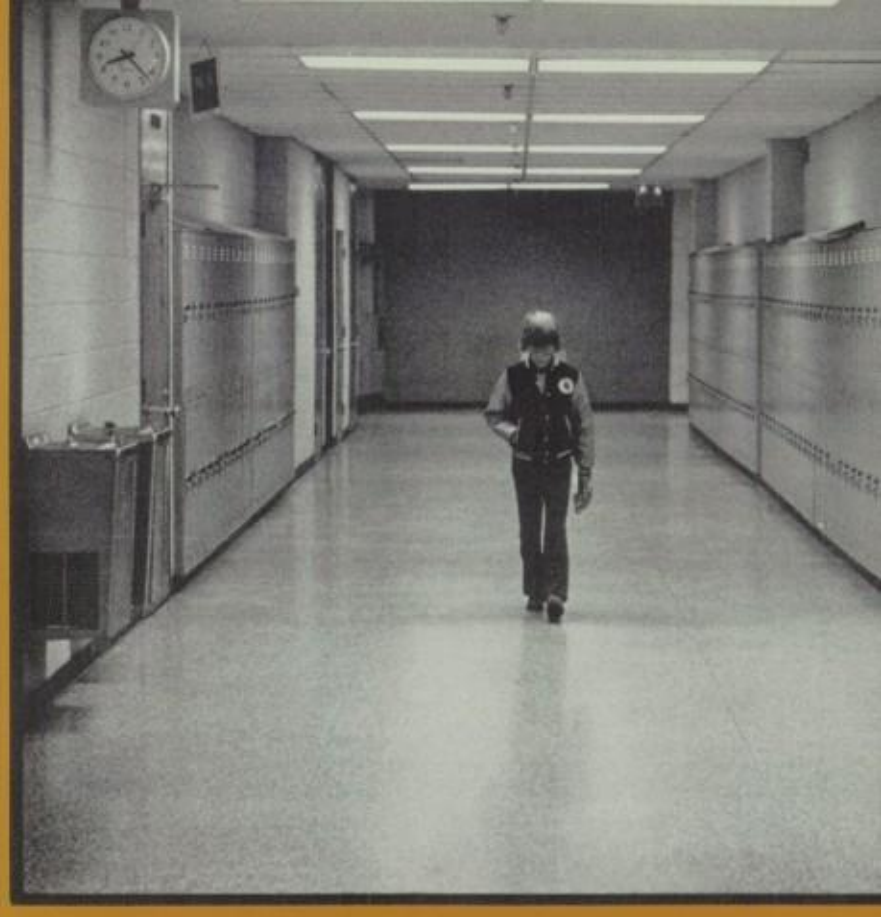
II. Thou shalt not sneak past any coach patrolling the halls before 8:30 A.M.

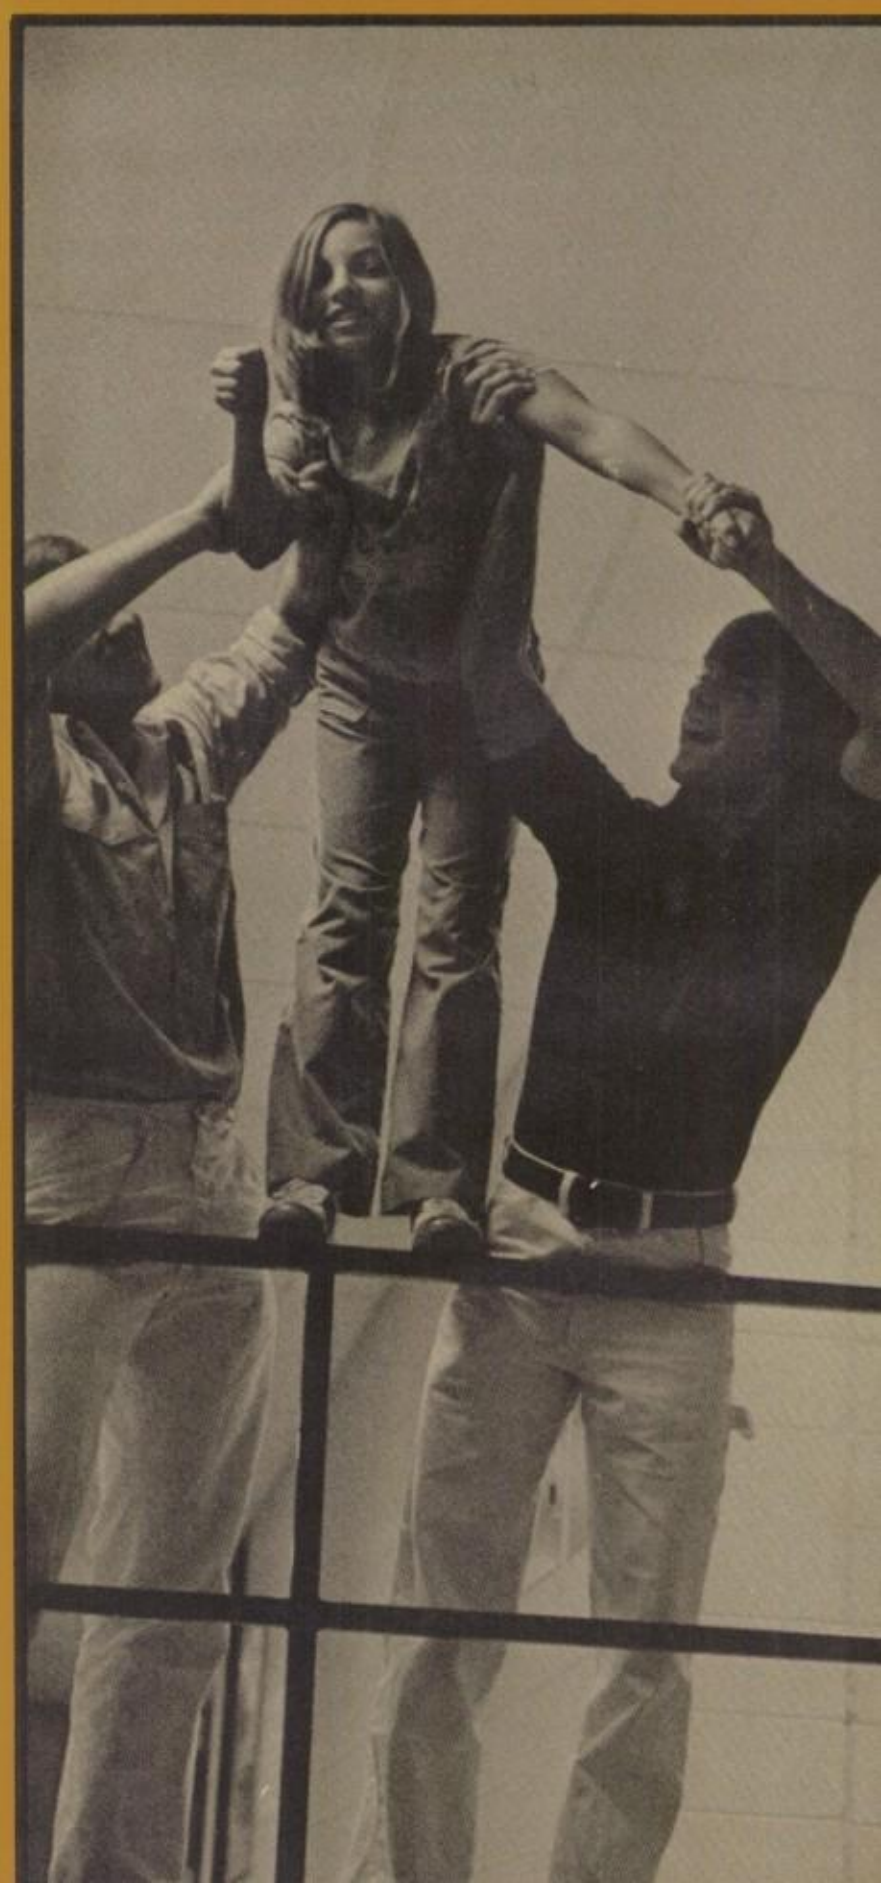
III. Thou shalt not partake of food anywhere besides the cafeteria.

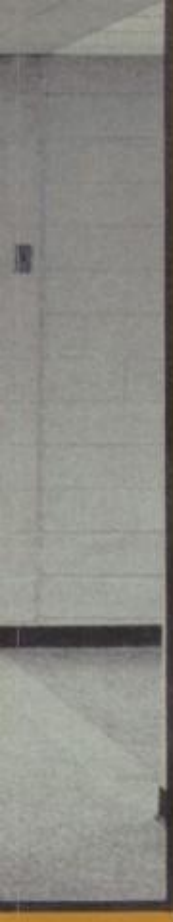
IV. Thou shalt not come between two people in the lunch line.

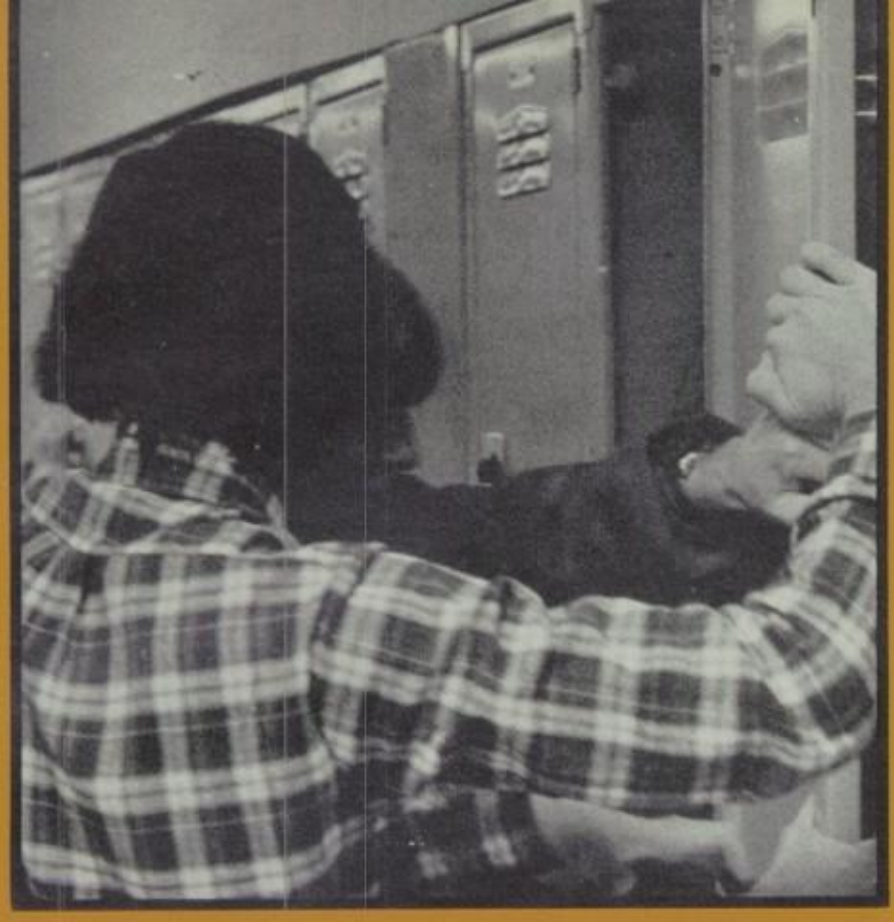
V. Thou shalt not leave the classroom in sickness or in health until death do you part . . .

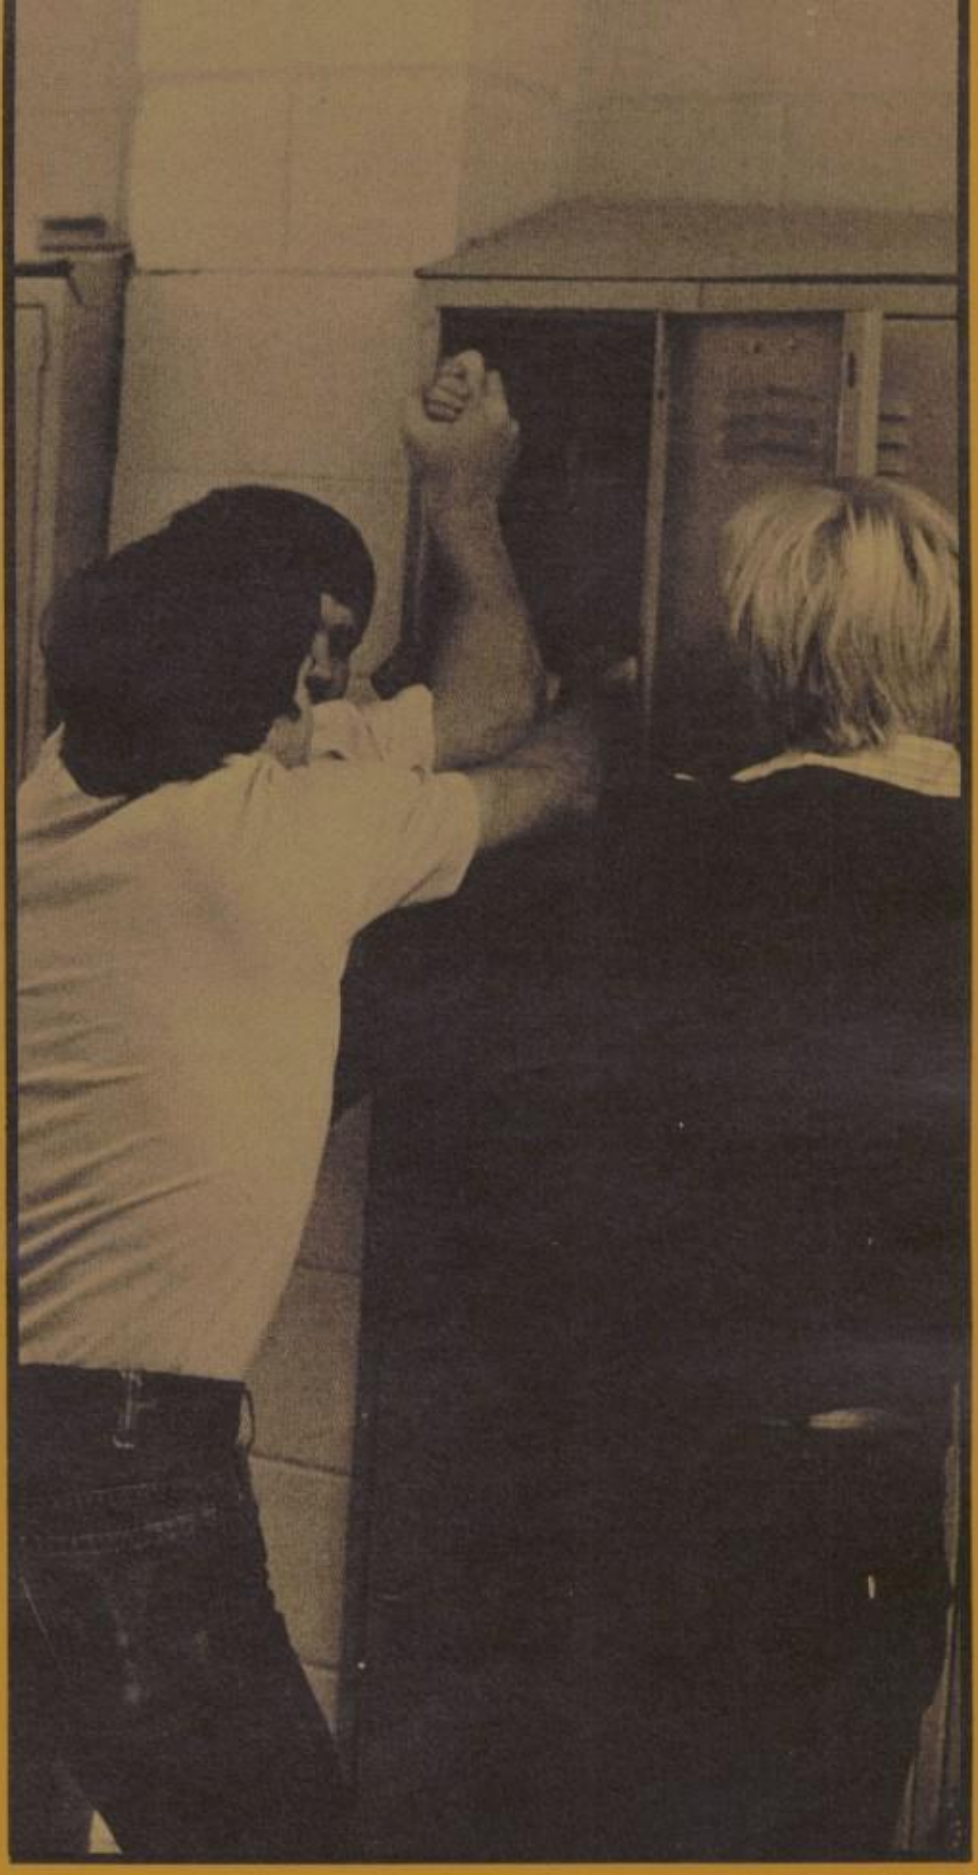
Clarence Cleghorn Jr., eighth grader, fresh from H.F. Underriley Elementary, races down the hall eagerly anticipating the challenge of Health 101. Meanwhile, hidden in the dark recesses of the staircase, Reggie Rampage, "the" well-known trouble maker on campus, complete with trench coat and dark glasses, awaits his victim. His eyes are searching, betraying sinister thoughts of (trumphet fanfare) EIGHTH GRADE INTIMIDATION! Clarence is innocently bouncing down the hall when he loses his grasp on his precious Georgia History notebook. Reggie grabs him viciously by the collar. "Hey kid, this is your last and only chance to purchase the deluxe privilege pass which includes admission to pep rallies, the indoor swimming pools, telephones, elevators, escalators, all fifty two chorale concerts, detention, smoking area, teacher's lounge, movies, the playground, and breakfast in the cafeteria." Clarence, with a slight grin and a twinkle in his eye, astounds the highly regarded con-man with a swift karate chop to the jaw. "Let this be a lesson to you, malicious evildoer, not to practice your pranks and hoaxes on unsuspecting eighth graders." Clarence does not feel for this deceitful character; therefore, he disregards Reggie's insincere pleas. With pride and defiance Clarence exclaims, "Innocent people will no longer be subject to your taunts and torments; they may now walk the halls without the fear of being jumped, locked in a locker, or hung from the sprinkling system."



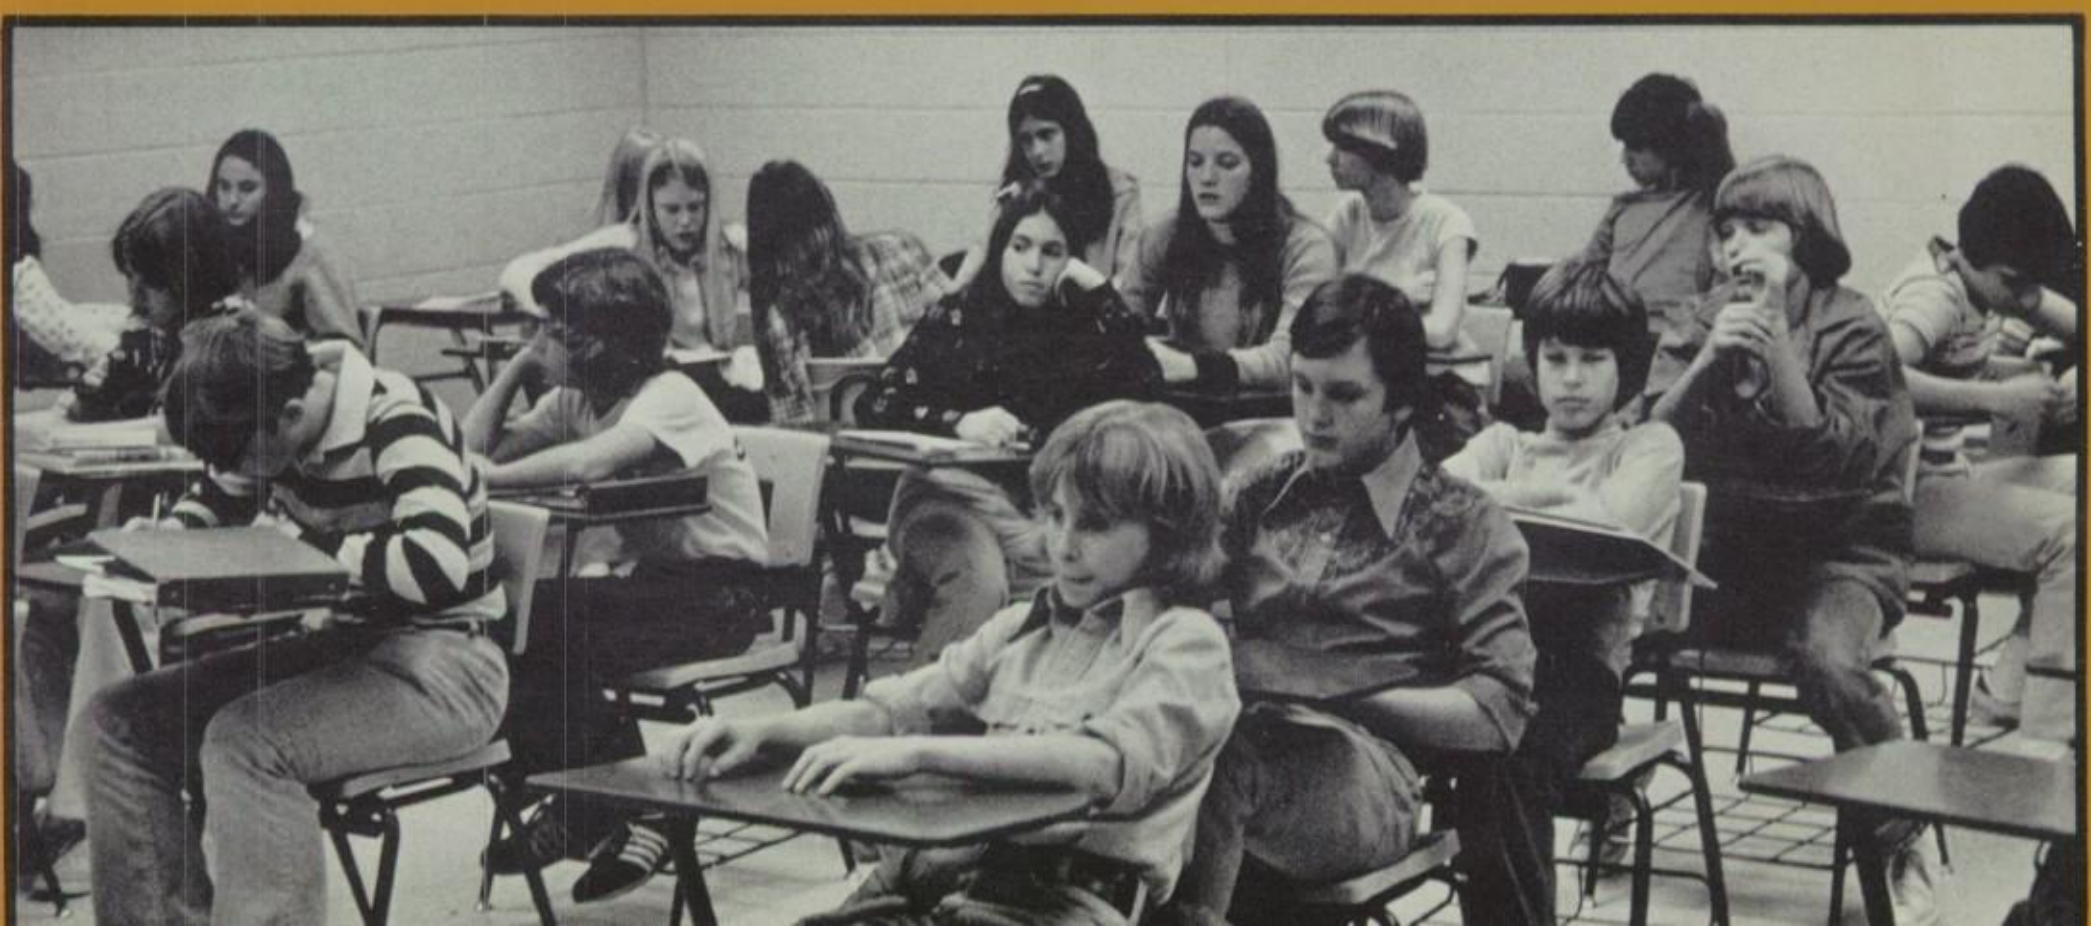








adida



As second period is dismissed, Buffy pushes her way toward the P.E. Department. After dodging various obstacles, she finally makes her way to the aromatic locker room. Buffy is now faced with the impossible feat of getting undressed and dressed, using the ladies' room, and making it to the upper field in a matter of three minutes.

Buffy's flag football class creates the ideal opportunity for seeking venegeance against Butch, her former steady. The coach, being a very chauvinistic person, decides to arrange the teams according to sex (in other words boys against girls). Buffy, the quarterback, calls her team together in a huddle. "Girls, as you know, this is the Championship Playoffs. The dice are even, and this is our big chance to really prove the female's true atheletic ability. Our main target today is Butch Bradley. In order to secure the championship, it will be necessary to use all means of trickery and deceit. Our main devices of artifice will be fingernails, high-heeled sneakers, bobby pins, and teeth. All right girls, let 'em have it!"

As the game progresses, Buffy and Butch exchange continuous hateful stares. By the second quarter, Butch has a bloody nose, a tooth missing, two skinned knees, bruised shins, and an ingrown toenail. "I've had enough!" Butch whimpers, "Get me out of this game." Consequently, without Butch the boy's team loses. The now self-confident girls carry Buffy out on their shoulders, leaving the boys behind to sulk and nurse their deflated egos.

Grades, a major concern of every student, are necessary in order to achieve and maintain standards of personal excellence. If the school administration should abandon this form of "rating" the student, the result would be chaotic; without grades many people would fail to learn the basic principles, much less the more advanced material.

From the moment a child is born, he is disciplined by words such as "excellent," "good," "fair," "unsatisfactory." As a youth enters the first level of education, the grading process begins. Grades, per se, are definitely important to even the youngest of children. Speculatively, if a child receives a "C" on his first test, he will aim for a higher mark, due to parential pressure. On the other hand, if a child receives no grade whatsoever, he will automatically assume that the paper is perfect or nearly flawless. Therefore, his standards are set at only an "average" level.

Perhaps the ideology behind grades is not exceptionally good. However, as yet, there seems to be no other alternative. Some students feel that grades suppress creativity. More times than not, this suppression depends entirely upon the individual. If a student is truly creative, grades should encourage him rather than discourage him.

Lastly, grades are part of the realistic world. An idealist says that schools can function satisfactorily without this rating. All though a person's life, he is "graded." Promotions, looks, and sexual ability, to name a few, are at one time or another rated by different individuals in our society. Grades are a form of competition, and without competition the human race will remain stagnant.

One of the goals of education is self-fulfillment. Happiness and spontaneity should be found in every classroom. The student should be allowed to learn at his own rate. The school can become an enjoyable place when individual freedom is given naturally. The student made responsible for his own education will explore and discover himself as well as the subject material. No one respects that which he fears. As long as the student does not encroach upon the freedom of others, punishment is not necessary. A teacher should treat the student with dignity and as an equal. An environment of trust promotes creativity, not destructiveness. The school where teachers and students care about each other will encourage growth and learning on both sides.

Flexibility is the key word concerning the daily routine and curriculum. Modular scheduling is an innovative approach to the problem of monotony. A much wider variety of subjects can be explored in a school day. The length of the study blocs range from fifteen to sixty minutes. Independent or group study is emphasized as a means of acceleration. Unscheduled time can occupy thirty to forty percent of the student's program. This time can be used for completion of assignments or concentration on an area of special interest — perhaps even teaching a mini-course in his favorite subject. The self-directed student becomes involved in and excited by the learning process.

The word "school" should not refer to just the building but the entire community. The traditional field trip is a starting point; however, the resources of the community are so great that the educational system must take advantage of them. All citizens should take an active interest in the educational process.

School should be success-oriented. It is a chilling fact that students can be told that they have failed. The function of grades can be changed from that of an end to a means of evaluation. One of the best systems is the "pass" and "not passed yet" program examined by Silberman's Crisis in the Classroom. Teachers and students, as partners, formulate a contract. Requirements are agreed upon at the beginning of the course, and the contract can be renegotiated. An unfair grade, by the student's standards, can be appealed. Tests are feedback where problem areas can be uncovered, and teachers can measure their effect on the class. The choice of what to study is given to the student. He feels accepted and valued — successful.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

They said that it was the year. Having worked together on the Varsity squad for three years, the team's seniors would surely lead Riverwood to a winning season. Yea! Never before in the school's history had the team had such an explosive potential. "Can't stop, can't stop the RAIDERS . . . "

A TEAM'S VIEW OF A TOUCHDOWN

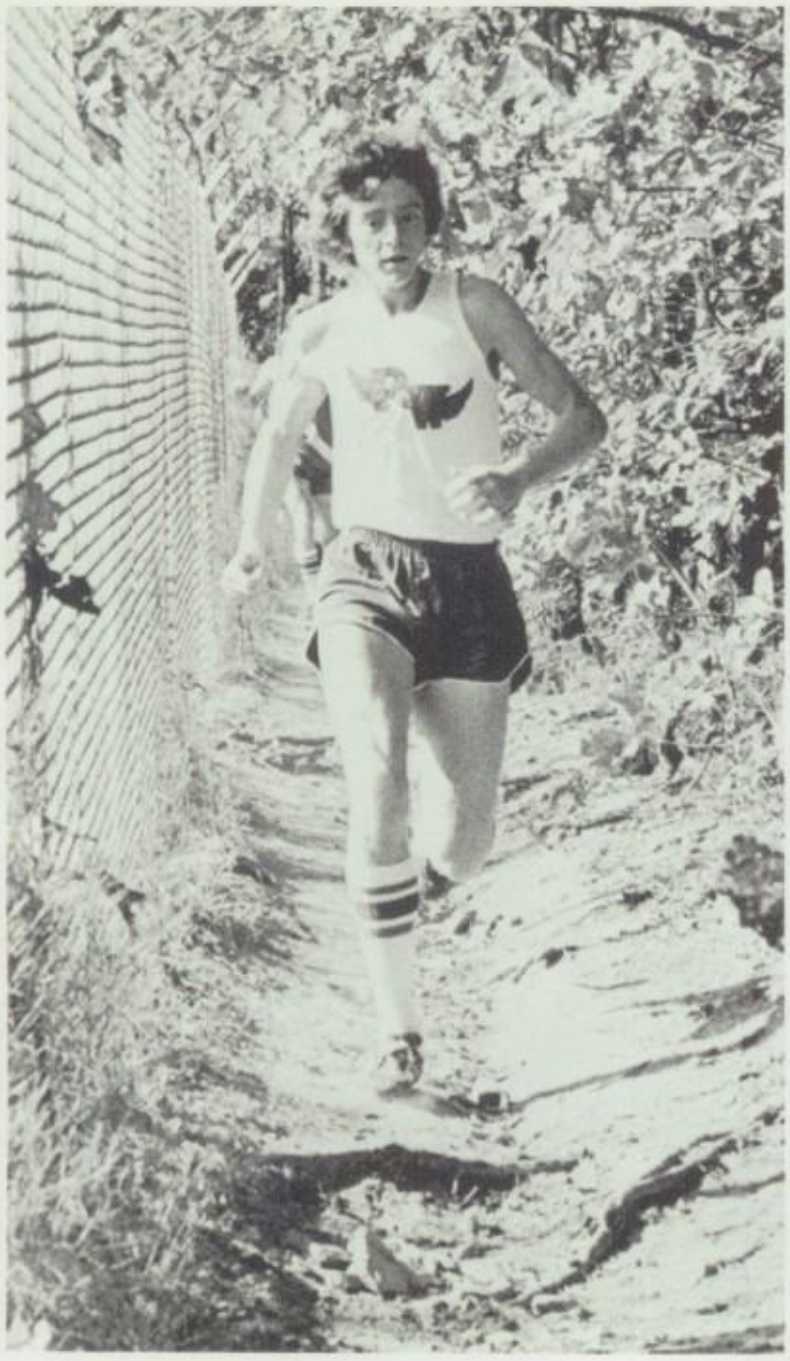
Tackle: Had I not turned out the halfback, the play would have never been possible.

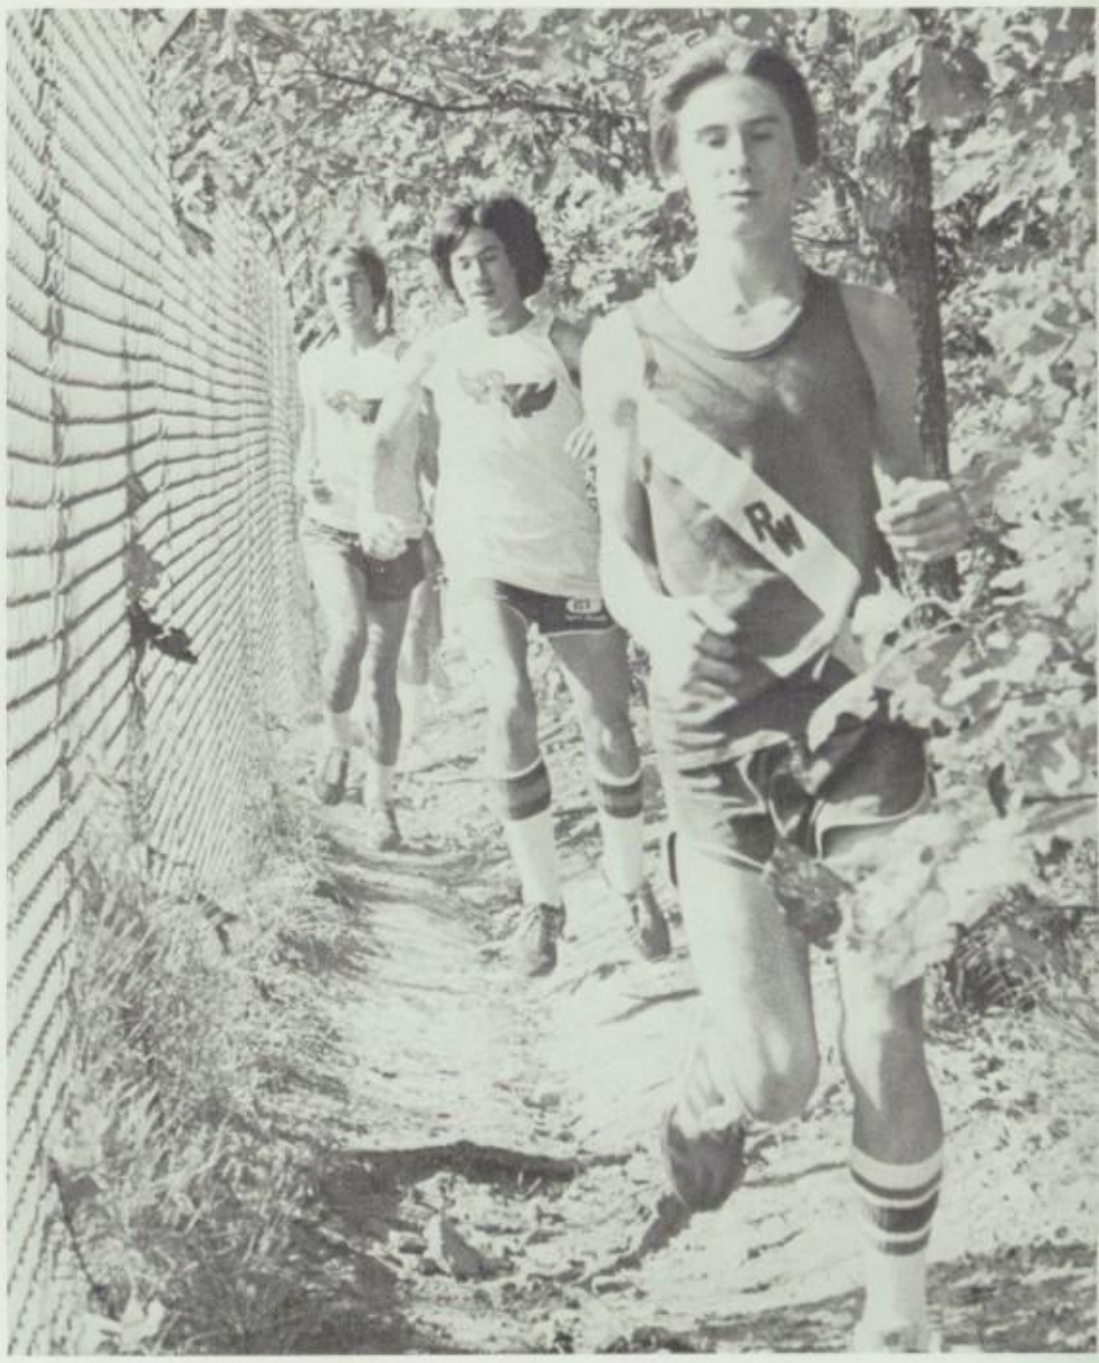
Center: The second after I snapped the ball I was in action; I eliminated the nose man and moved immediately to the guard, creating the vital hole in the line.

Quarterback: It was a 36-X, and I performed perfectly. A beautiful fake to the fullback, some fancy footwork and TOUCHDOWN!

BABY BALDERS

COUNTRY CROSS





Riverwood's Cross Country Team runs a grueling 2.2 mile course. The rugged course follows along the outside of the fence enclosing Riverwood's athletic fields and winds down behind Heards Ferry Grammer School. The course takes an average of about 12 to 14 minutes and is on a steady incline the first half of the run. The meets are usually between three schools. Ridgeview and Lovett are probably the team's biggest rivals. Cross Country generally gets the runners in shape for wrestling, soccer or basketball. This sport takes a lot of stamina and endurance. Riverwood congratulates the Cross Country Team for their dedication and hard work this season!

VARSITY

"We're on the gym floor, the gym floor's hot . . . " The boy's basketball season this year was no less than exciting. The team's hard work and dedication helped them to have the best season ever in Riverwood's history. Keep that momentum coming guys! "When you're hot, you're hot!"

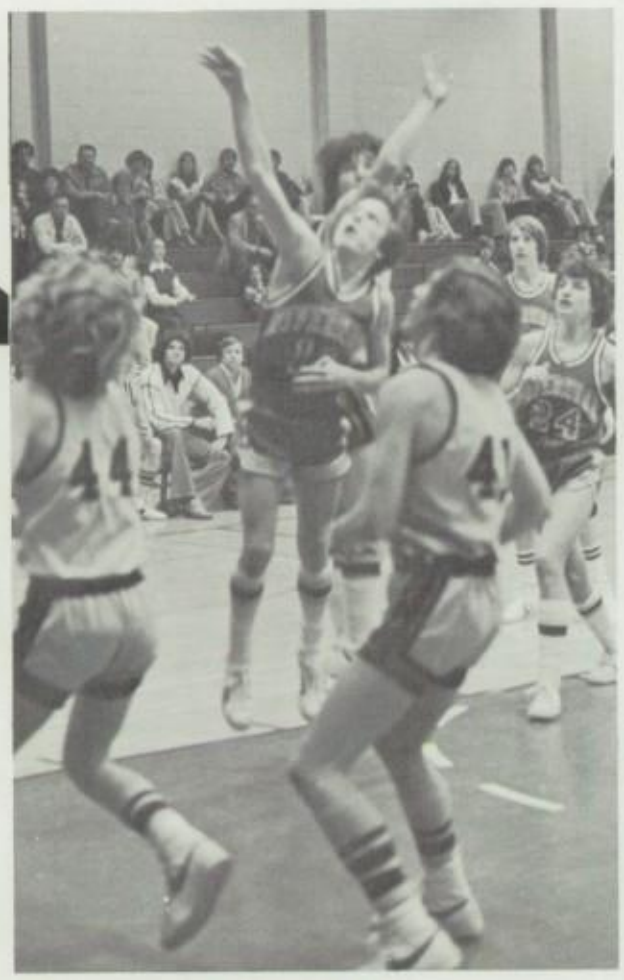
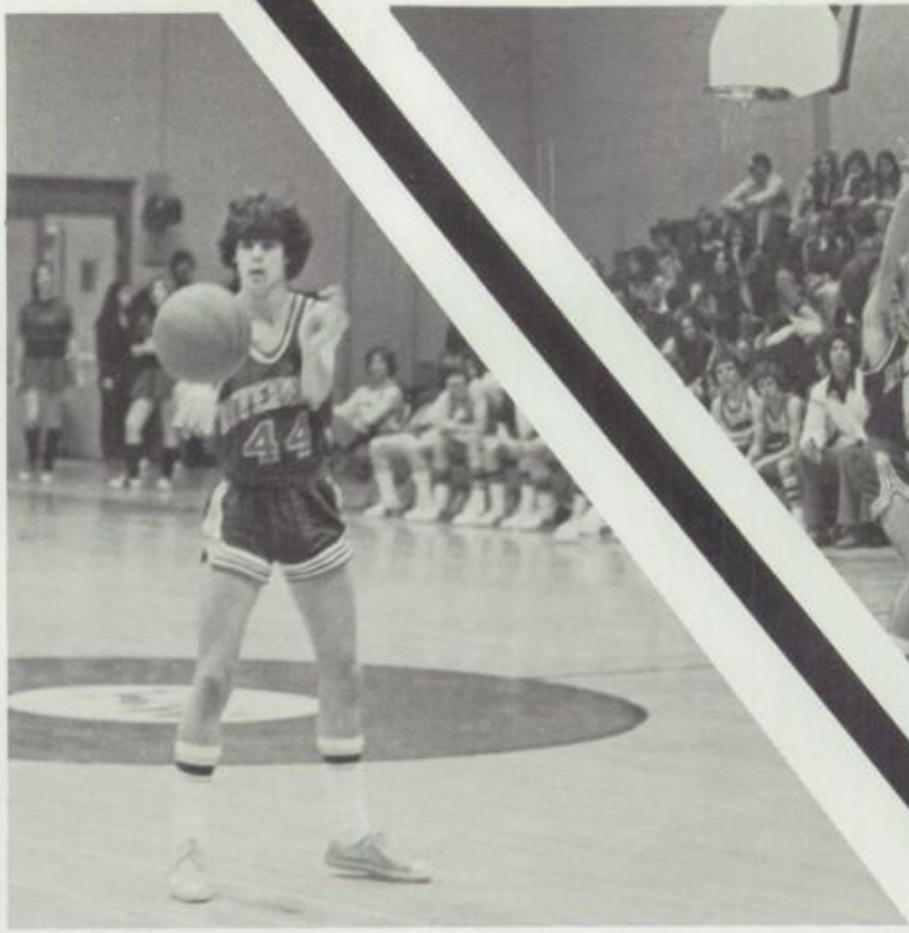
GIRL'S BASKETBALL

The Girl's Varsity Basketball Team is off and running. This year Coach McClain has worked hard to organize and train this talented group of girls. Their season record exemplifies their fiery potential. It is most certain that girl's basketball will become a tradition at Riverwood during the upcoming years.

J.V. BOYS

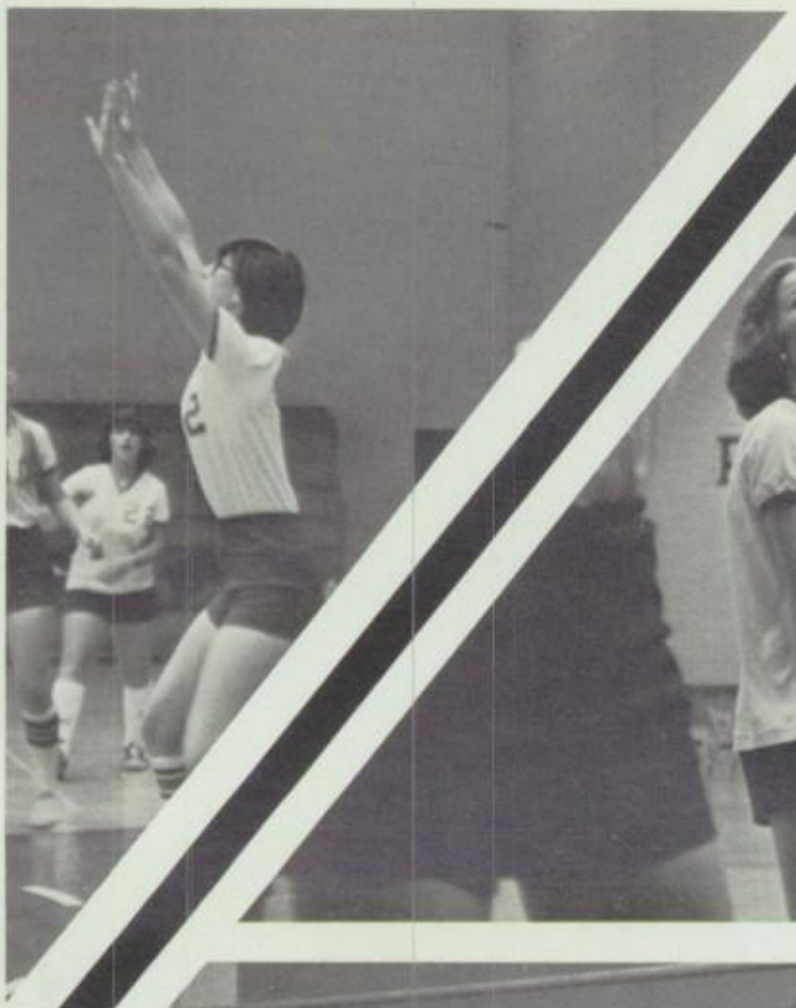
Even with the tough competition expected from the Girl's J.V., this year's Riverwood Boy's Junior Varsity Team hopes to have one of the best records yet in Riverwood history.

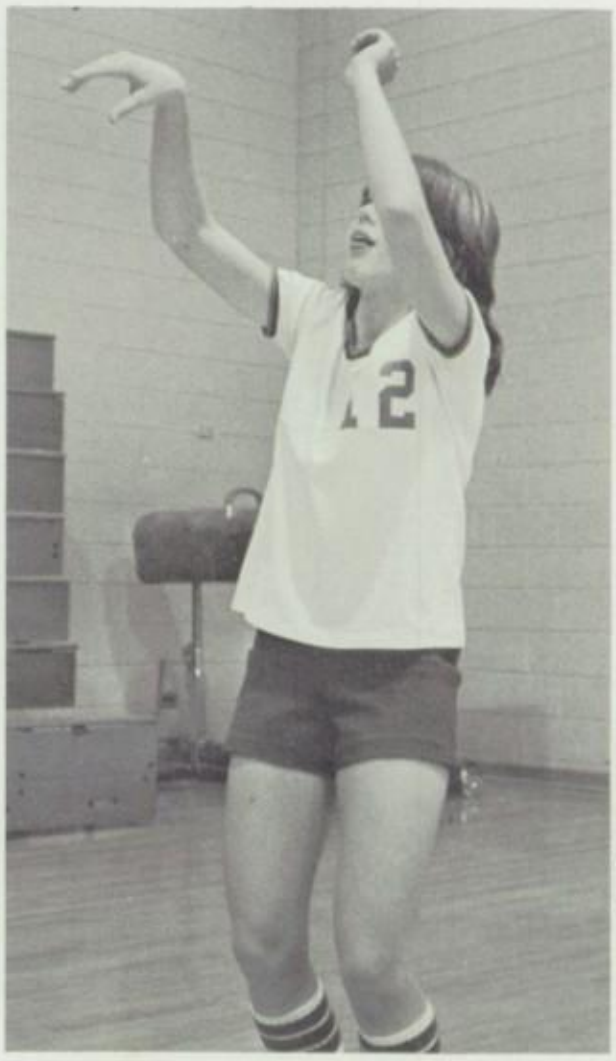




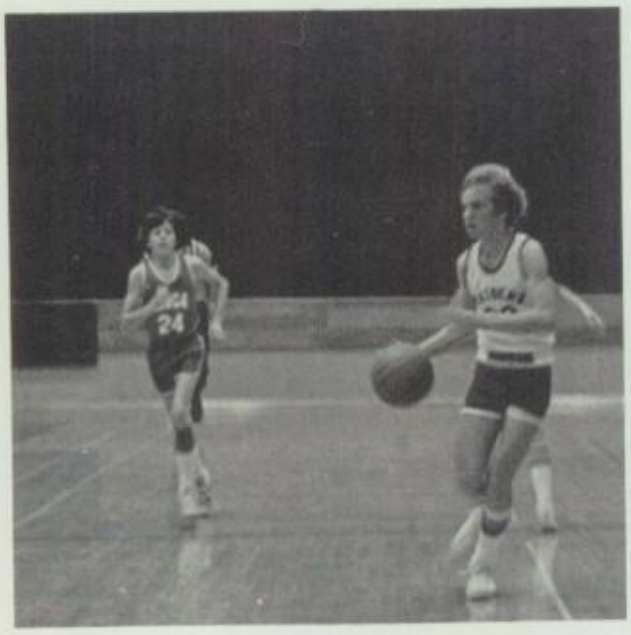
GIRLS

Introducing something new at Riverwood: Girl's Basketball! Under the leadership of Coach Fletcher these Junior Varsity Girls should add a new dimension to Riverwood's basketball program. Go to it girls! Good luck girls!



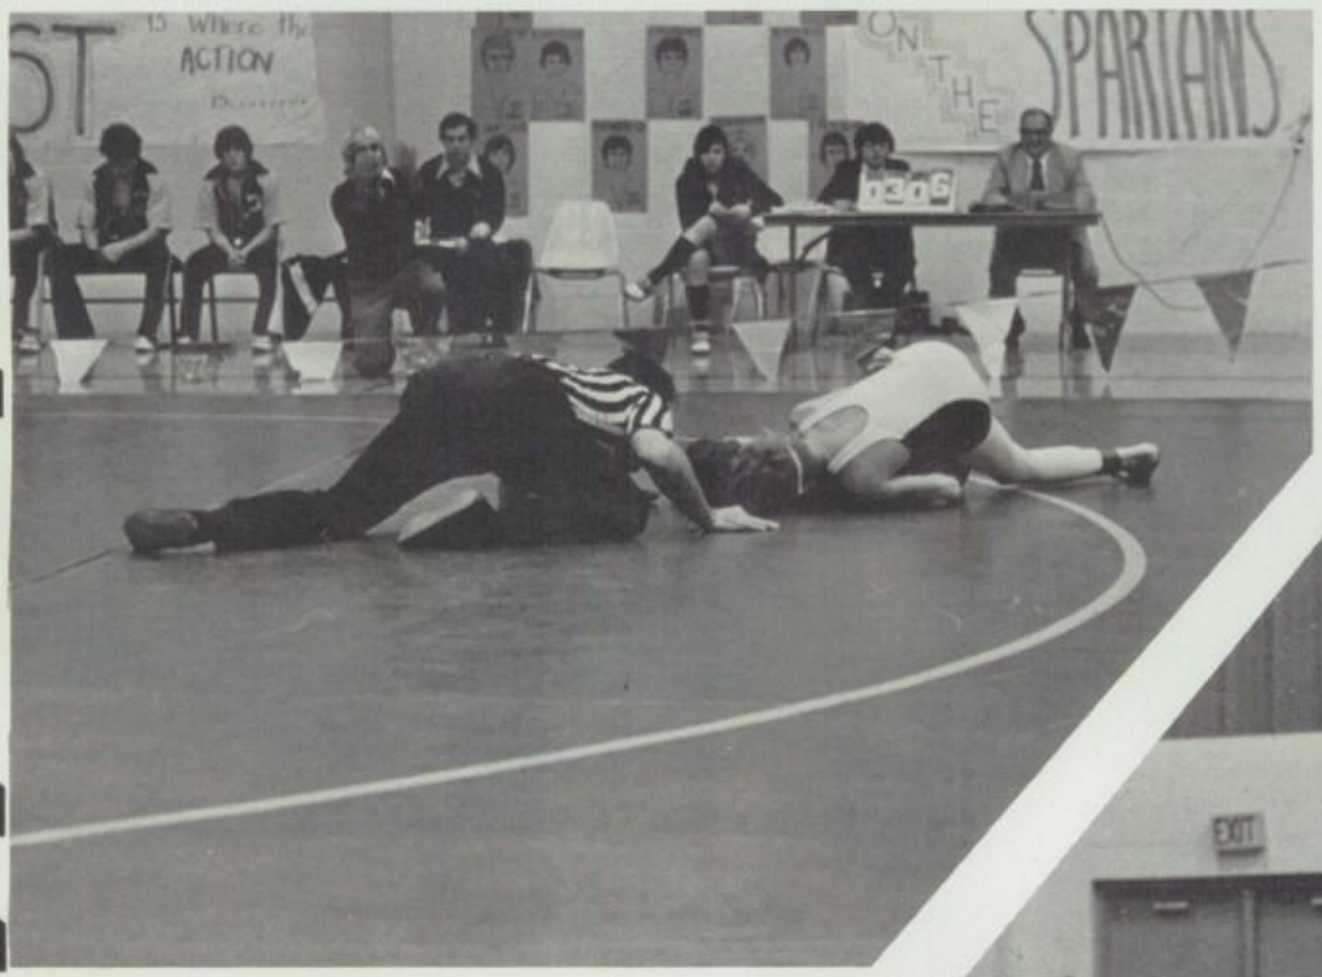


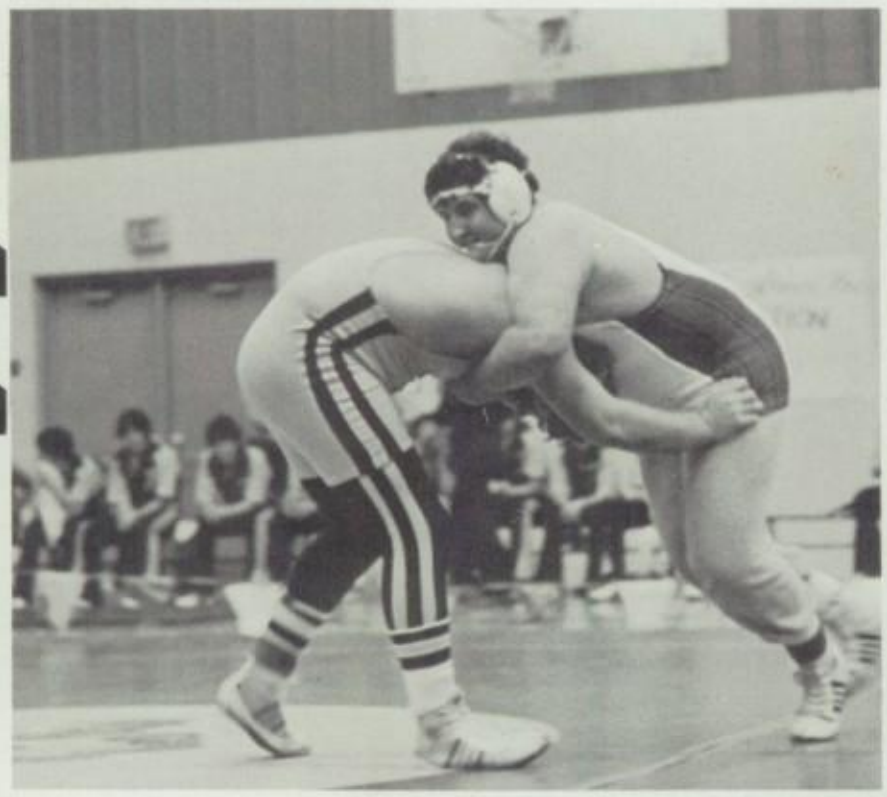
EIGHTH GRADE BASKETBALL

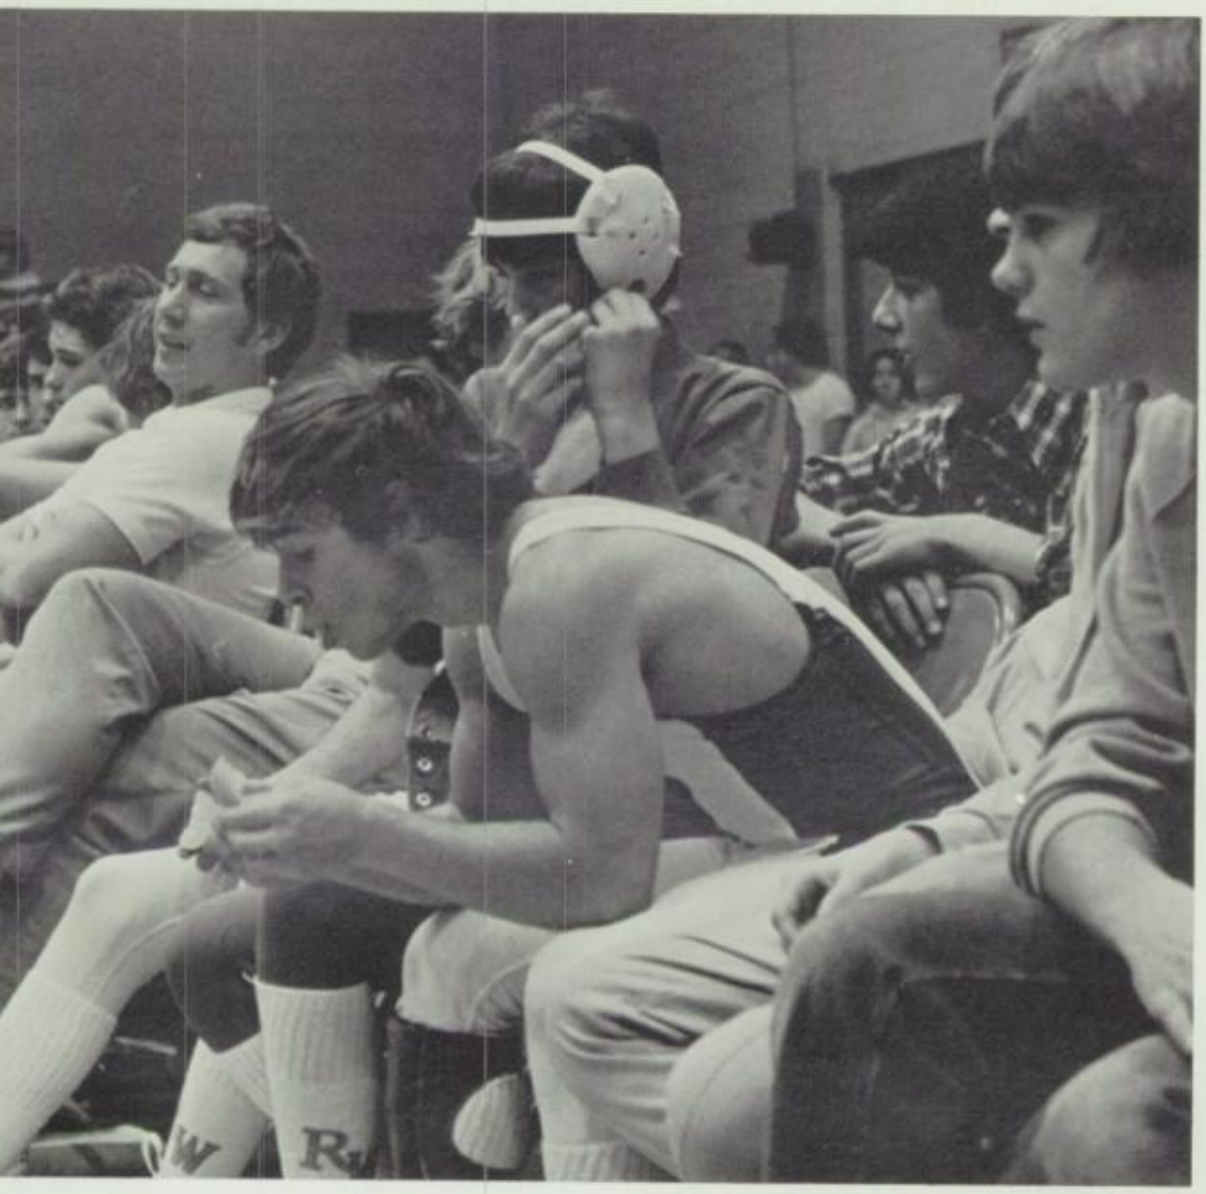


BASEBALL

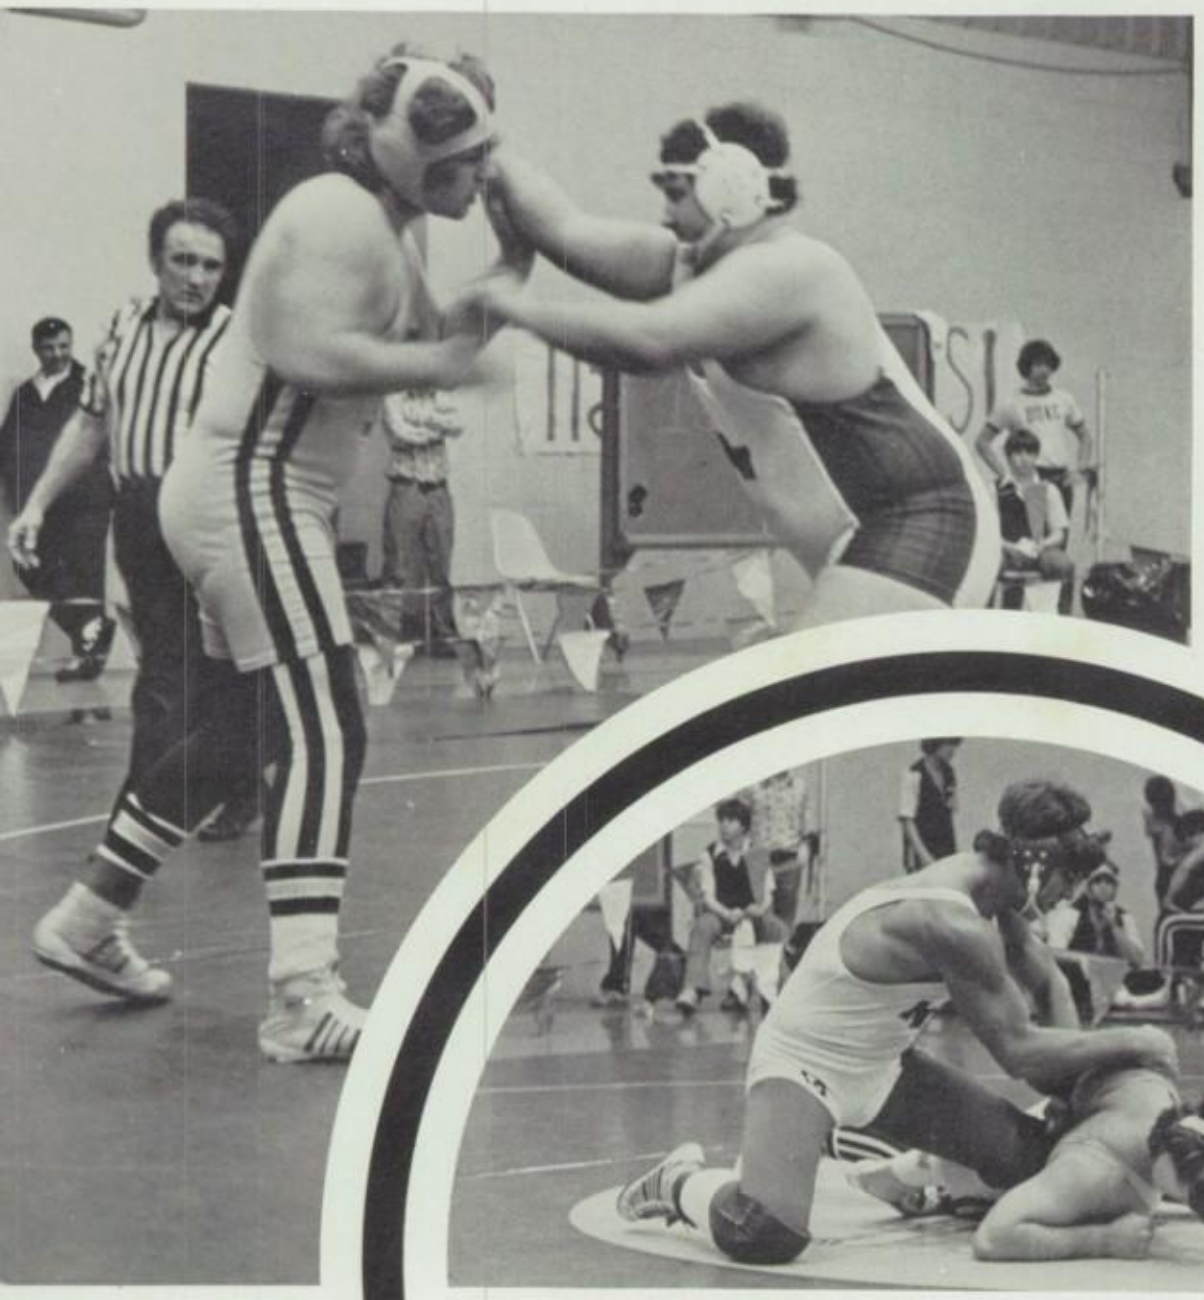
VARSITY WRESTLING

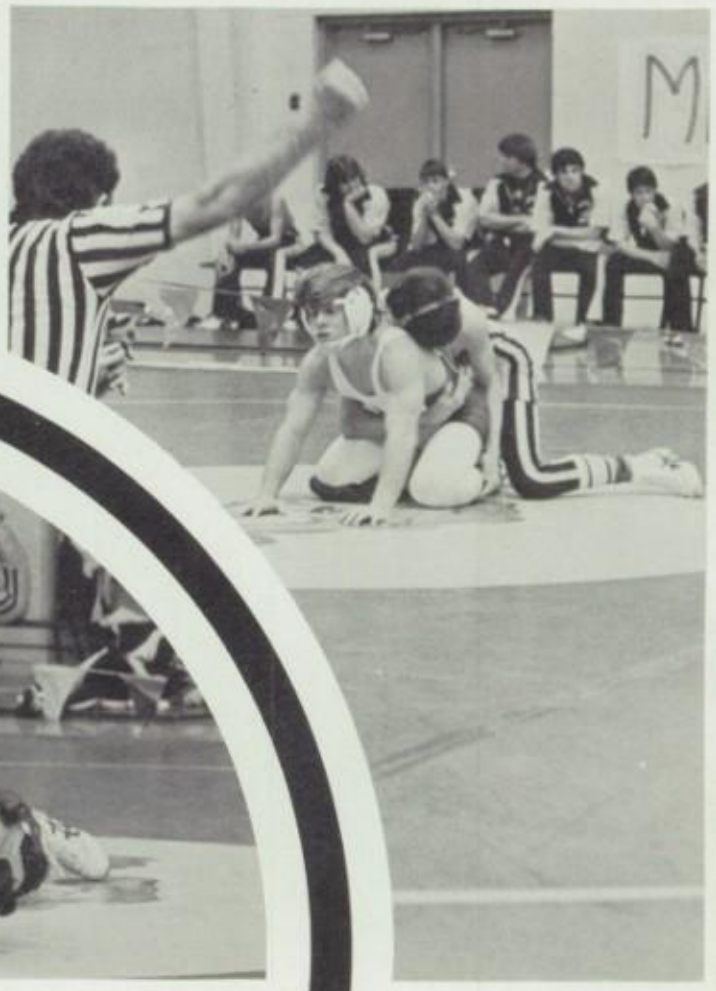




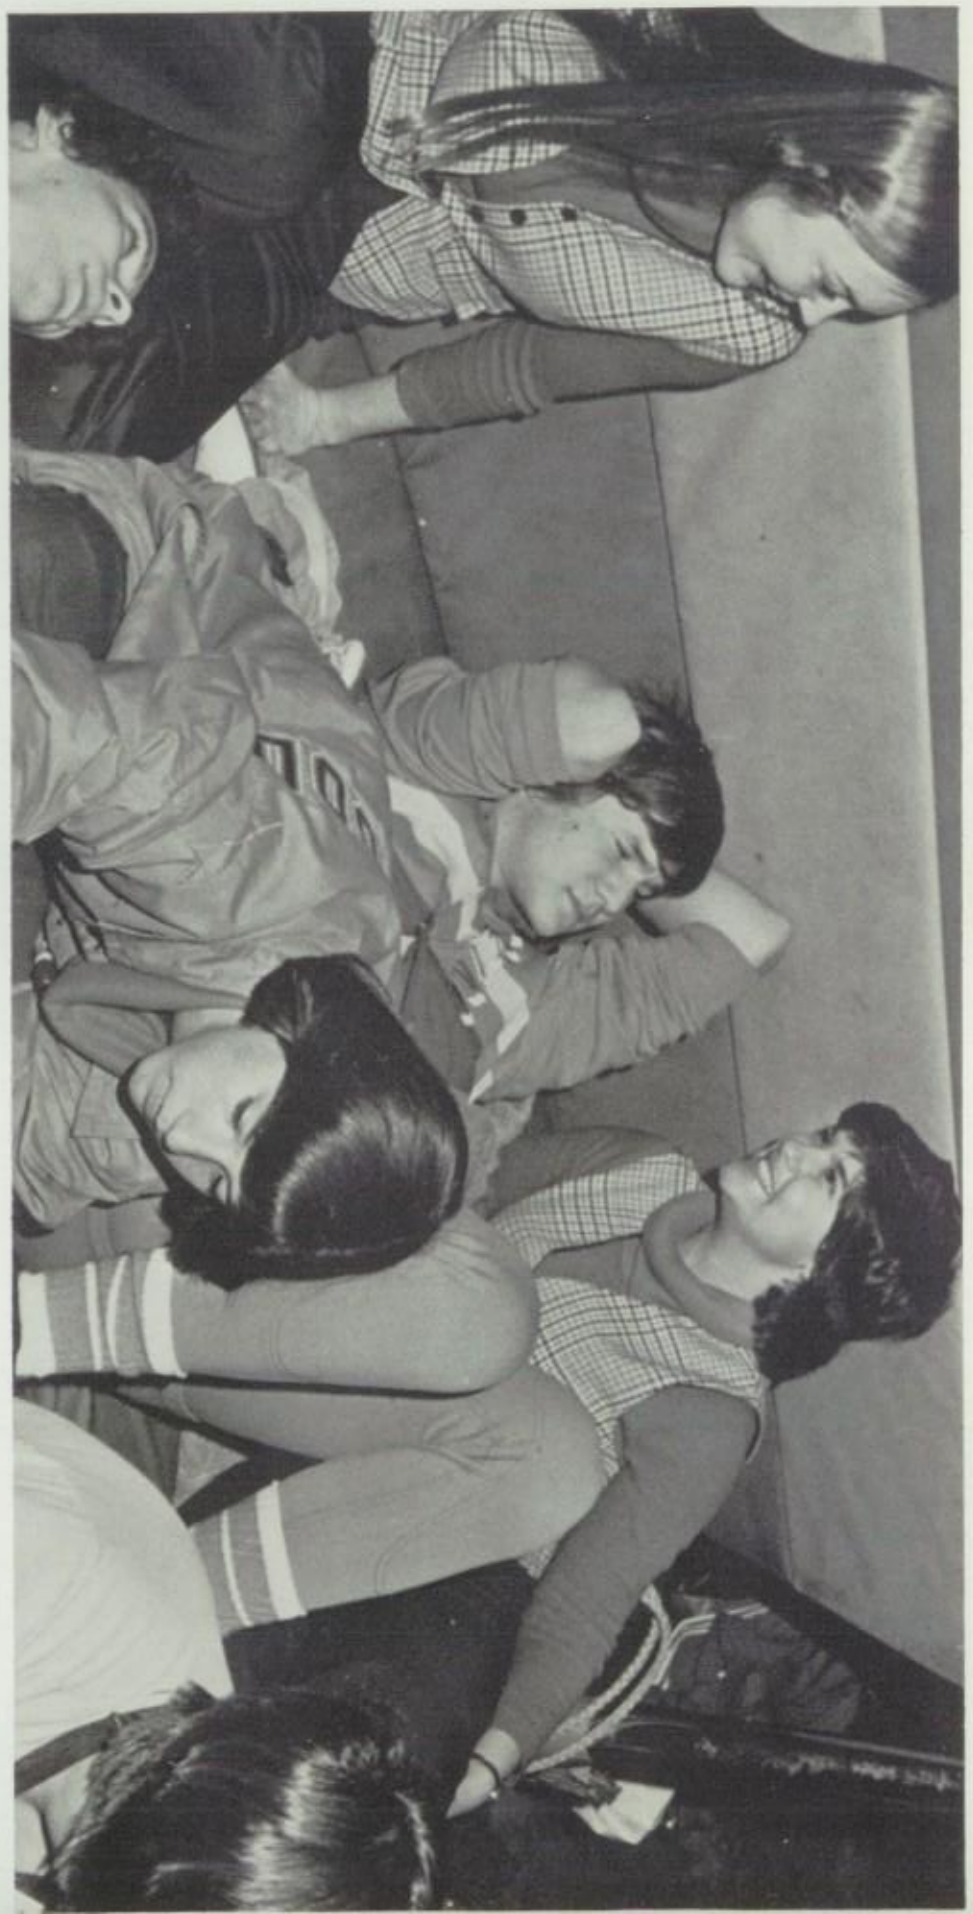


The Wrestling Team, under the direction of Coach Theo Caldwell, is once again off to a great start. The team's success is largely due to the faithful Mat Maids who turn out time and again to cheer on the wrestlers. Fasting is a popular fad among the wrestlers as well as the Mat Maids. Wrestlers are often grouchy when trying to lose that extra pound or two before weigh-in; however, it's important for each wrestler to weigh within his designated weight class, or he will be forced to forfeit his match. Good luck wrestlers and keep up the good work!





JV WRESTING



JV SOCCER

VARSITY SOCCER

Soccer, one of the most popular sports in the world, is steadily becoming one of the more popular sports here at Riverwood. Bill Tinkler coaches the Soccer Team which faithfully practices every afternoon and often on weekends. Riverwood soccer games are fast, rough and exciting. The players must have a great deal of physical endurance for play rarely stops during the game. If you are looking for some non-stop excitement, then come out and watch these dedicated athletes play. You won't be disappointed!

THE PERFECT SPECIMEN

Rihiscan: Mr. Jones, you've been the principal at Riverwood High School for six years. Has the school changed much since its beginning?

Mr. Jones: Yes, I feel that the school has undergone changes. The biggest difference is that the students have now adjusted to the structure of Riverwood as opposed to the various frameworks of North Springs, Sandy Springs and Ridgeview. When Riverwood first opened, many students did not want to leave their old schools, but now elementary school students look forward to attending Riverwood, and the students' morale has increased.

Rihiscan: Do you feel the school needs to become stricter?

Mr. Jones: No, I really don't think so. The only complaint I have with the students is the inconsideration they show toward fellow students. This attitude, not expressed toward the faculty, is displayed when trays are left in the lunchroom and when the girls smoke in the restrooms.

Rihiscan: How do you feel about the school spirit?

Mr. Jones: I thought it would take four years from the school's birth in order to develop school spirit: however, it came earlier-after two years the spirit was fair. Of course good teams unify the school, but Riverwood has an excellent faculty and strong curriculum of which the students should be proud. In my opinion, the main function of a school is education; however, the curriculum does not create as much school spirit as a winning team does.

WHALEY WINS KLINK AWARD

Heaped upon this man s shoulders is the irreplacable job of disciplining the delinquents and handling the absent and tardy children's attendance. Dedicated to education, this man has his hands full keeping kids in class. Scanning the halls with his x-ray vision, this notorious crime-fighter - seeks out new ways to apprehend the violators of Riverwood's law code. His elaborate system of office telephoning involves mothers working around the clock confirming absences. The truant officer has no place here at Riverwood; in fact, Mr. Whaley has won Colonel Klink's prized award for the tightest camp. He's proud of his achievements here, and you know, deep down he is really quite dedicated to truth, justice, and the Riverwood way!

COMPUTER LOVE

It was love at first sight. Broadwell's bouncing, bubbling, baby computer now arranges and rearranges only to disarrange our schedules. The finished product is a 4 x 6 inch card with a code name and a polished schedule. Of course it is not quite that simple for Mr. Broadwell. He has to personally feed this baby 1158 names with about 166 class offerings and hope it doesn't lose its meal. He still tediously hand writes many schedules to avoid computer conflicts.

In all consolation, the computer saves us the registration hassle, and admittingly it is pretty efficient. For Mr. Broadwell, well, at least it saves him from handwriting schedules.

DANGLING PARTICIPLE IS TRIMMED

Good morning Ms. Personification, Your mission, should you decide to accept it, is to make the following assignments to your bright, alert, and enthusiastic intellectuals: the students must memmorize 378 strange and unfamiliar vocabulary words, a class discussion on the innermeaning of truth as described by Shakespeare, recite 1200 lines of Chaucer's The Canterbury Tales in Middle English and for brownie points translate it into Old English. Also, the students must write a lengthy dissertation on Edgar Allen Poe's "Sonnets of Love." A comma-splice abuser shall be hung on the following Tuesday in the gym, and if any type of anarchy arises, blue or yellow invitations should be hand delivered to the condemned.

THE CAR WRECK

The dynamic duo, Caldwell and Hays, decided that they would have a break one day. To McDonalds their Driver's Ed. car speedily went, and they gorged until all their money was spent. Meanwhile at school there was Deacon and Dudley, who also would do a little skipping of studies. To McDonalds by car they would also go, for just a few minutes — no one would know. Well, down by the Landing there came such a clatter that no one really knew just what was the matter. Lt. Whaley was summoned: he arrived on the scene with his red light flashing — his expression was mean. "Well boys, you're guilty," he said with a smile, "and since I'm in charge here, there will be no trial.""You're all sentenced . . ." - but rather than hearing him blab, the boys chimed in, "We know. We'll pick up the tab."

Now their time is done, but they don't believe what they've been through. Their moral to students: Don't skip — you don't know who you might run into.

TAGGED STUDENTS

Although Riverwood is the home of the TAG program, few students know exactly what the program involves. The three special TAG teachers, working with the teachers in each department, adjust the regular academic programs of the classroom in order to individualize the school program for gifted students. The eighty students enrolled in the program can also participate in many seminars, discussion groups, and field trips arranged by the TAG staff.

STUDENTS IMPROVE SKILLS

Contrary to popular belief, study skills is not a remedial class. Students involved in the program work on certain techniques needed for a class that the classroom teacher assumes the student has already acquired. For example, a student might need help in composition; if he is not in a composition class however, this needed skill is not focused on. Through this special program, students attain necessary techniques that are required in order to gain success in other areas of study.

GARMON'S GANG

The Garmon Gang cleans again! They're up long before the sun rises unlocking doors, sweeping floors, and generally cleaning the building. Of course, their job is not easy. They must get the tough stains out and get the dirt out kids get into. They must keep our bathrooms tidy-bowl clean, and our halls must have a clear tough shine. Let's face it. They're stronger than dirt.

THE MENU

There are still gripes about the quality of food at Riverwood but none about the variety. For instance, in one year we have: apple crunch, apple pie, green beans, beefaroni, brownies, cake (many flavors), cheeseburgers, cole slaw, peanut butter cookies, corn, corn dogs, fish, french fries, fried chicken, hamburgers, hot dogs, jello, lemon pudding, mashed potatoes, peaches, peach pie, peas, pizza, potato chips, roast beef, rolls, grilled cheese sandwiches, ham and cheese sandwiches, tossed salad (with a variety of dressings), sloppy joes, vegetable soup, spaghetti, tacos, garlic toast, and turkey.

And for beverages we have orange juice and milk (including skim, whole, chocolate, and sour).

And for all you weight-watchers we have the salad plate, the salad bowl, and this year's new hit, the Nutra lunch, with yogurt and popcorn. But if you're still hungry, there is our all-time favorite — ice cream in an assortment of bars, sandwiches, and cones.

At least there's variety!

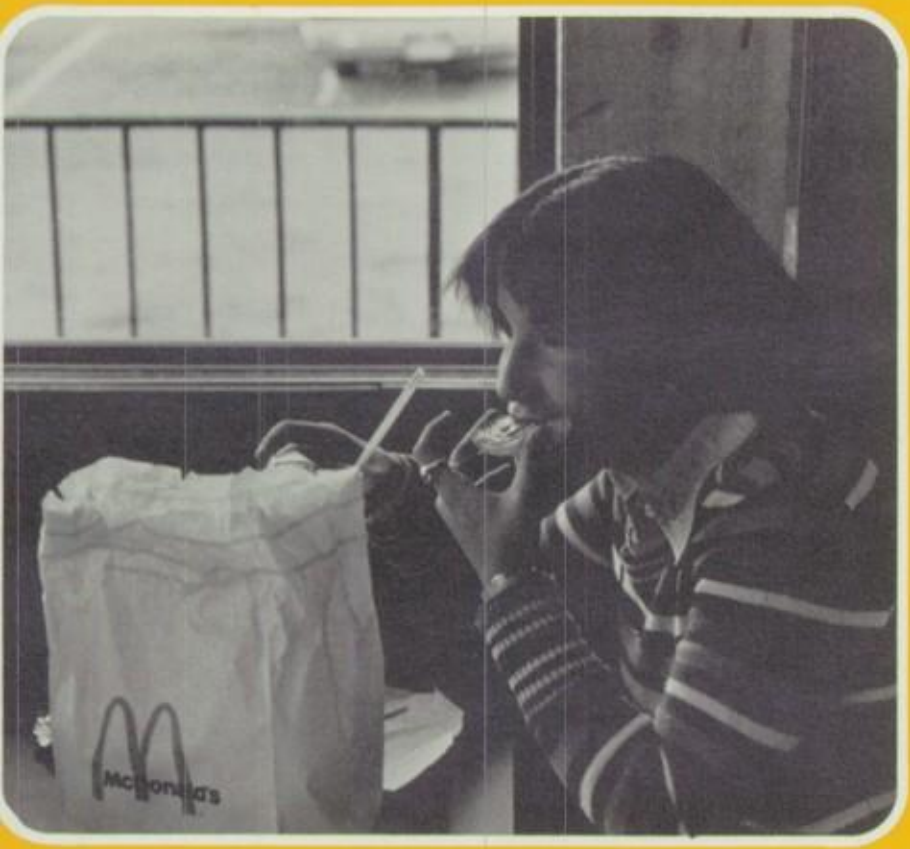
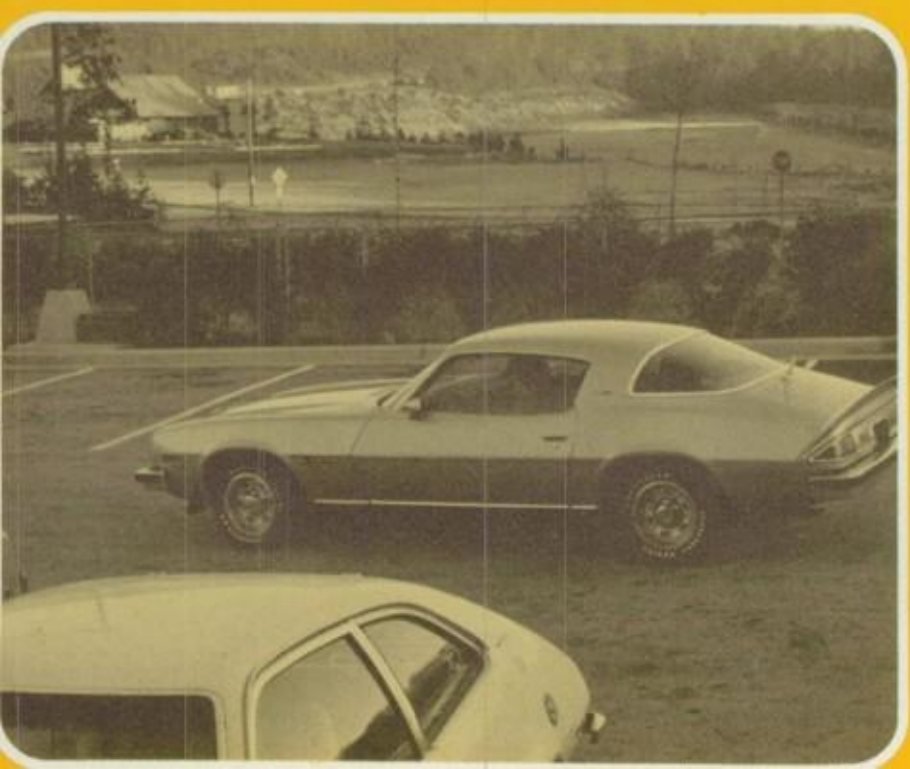
McDonald's
BBJ 187





Slowly passing the time in the Senior Lounge, Arthur Farling is overcome with boredom and fatigue. The scholarly atmosphere at this accredited institution just doesn't seem to provide enough variety for Arthur. Every day tends to follow a set routine, and every movement is habitual. Arthur's stomach grumbles and growls from hunger. Spasmodically, a crafty scheme registers in Arthur's mind. With ample time to waste, why not pay a friendly visit to McDonalds of Hoffer's Bakery for a quick bite to eat. Being such a loyal and trustworthy student, Arthur is confident that no one, not even the janitors, will suspect him of this fiendish act, but first he must make a plan.

Arthur takes off his clunky shoes before venturing down the hall. In stocking feet he sneaks to the only means of escape; his eyes dart left and right as he makes a final check to be sure the coast is clear. Once through the doors, Arthur makes a mad dash for the mulberry bush. His heart is beating wildly. After gaining some composure, Arthur sprints across the bus lane and into the parking lot. Once inside his car, Arthur is overcome with a sense of relief. Placing the key in the ignition, Arthur starts the engine with a thundering roar — and he's off! When he reaches McDonalds, Arthur sighs with relief; he has successfully skipped school! As he opens the entrance door of McDonalds, Arthur is greeted by none other than the friendly NARC Patrol (None Allowed Off Riverwood Campus). Oh well, it was a good try Arthur.

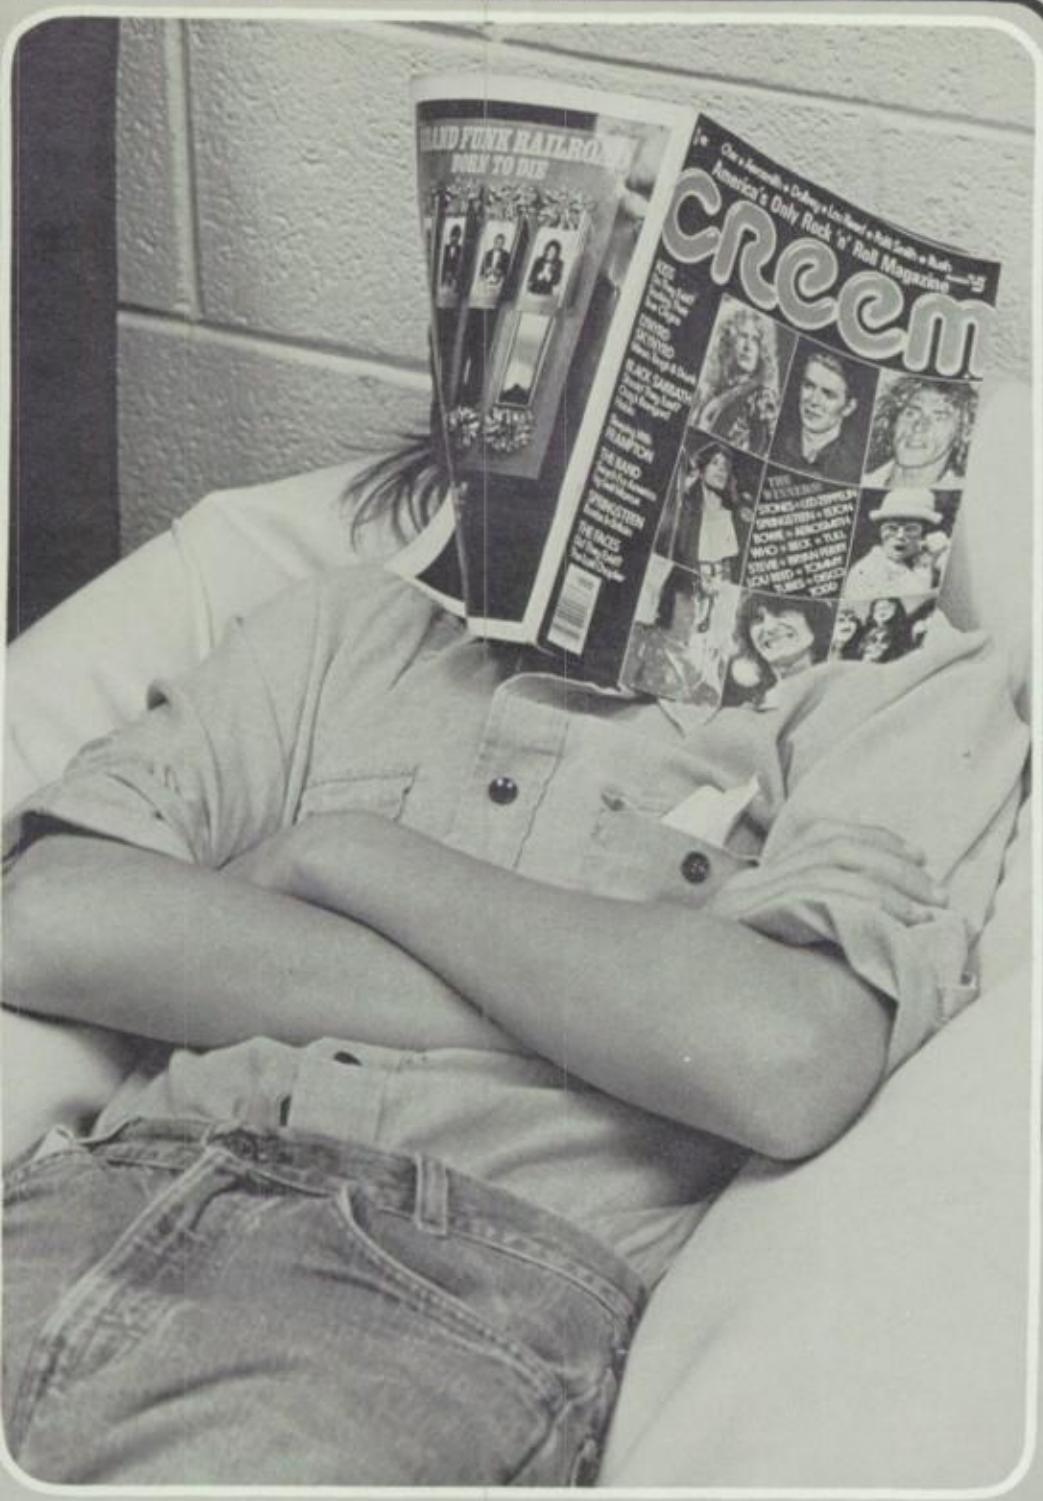
SENIOR YEARS

SENIORS



As Marlene and Darlene Dolittle prance into the Senior Lounge, they are bombarded by popcorn kernels and paper airplanes. Marlene screeches over the deafening music of Peter Frampton, "When are you CHILDREN ever going to grow up?"

"Oh, Marlene, cut it out . . . you're embarrassing me!" pleads Darlene.

Marlene, totally disgusted with the entire situation, begins picking up scraps of paper, old food, and couch stuffing.

"Come on y'all, pitch in and help — it's y'all's responsibility too," says Darlene. Butch retorts, "Oh come off it — that's the janitor's job."

"Okay, but don't come crying to me when the lounge is closed," Marlene says as she storms out.

Weeks pass, and the Senior Lounge begins to look more and more like a garbage dump.

Ms. Jacqueline Richardson, the principal, decides to make a routine check of the Senior Lounge. She is utterly horrified by the filth and immediately calls the Sanitation Dept. The next day the note reads as follows:

NOTICE: The Senior Lounge has been declared a hazard to public health. All persons enter at their own risk. If the lounge is not cleared of pests, so-called words of wisdom, and spare parts within 24 hours, THE SENIOR LOUNGE WILL BE CONDEMNED!!!

Signed,
The Public Health Dept.

Carrie Dempsey, already in a depressed state of mind because of her strict diet, gazes longingly at the forbidden piece of chocolate cake. Whether going to the library or just cruising around, Carrie is constantly confronted with a number of tempations: McDonalds, Farrells, Dunkin Donuts, Dairy Queen, Steak N' Shake, Gigi's, Burger King, and above all, the grocery store. Quite frequently, Carrie feels the strong urge to indulge in her favorite pasttime . . . GORGING! However, her deep desire to go to the Junior Senior prevents her from slipping back into the unattractive habit of munching out. Relentless hours of fasting, exercising, Weight Watchers, and Charm School are all devoted to creating a poised and slender Carrie Dempsey. After enduring many months of near starvation, Carrie has reached her goal of 107 pounds. Due to her recent weight loss, Carrie has gained an overwhelming amount of self-confidence; therefore, she hopes to be one of the first girls asked to the dance. As the week of the Junior Senior approaches, and the announcements are urging the student body to purchase their tickets, Carrie has yet to be asked. She finds herself drifting back into her original state of insecurity and seclusion. At 8:00 P.M. on the night of the Junior Senior, Carrie forces herself to accept the fact that she will not have the opportunity to attend this significant school affair. In utter despair, she resigns herself to a life of habitual eating and eternal obesity.

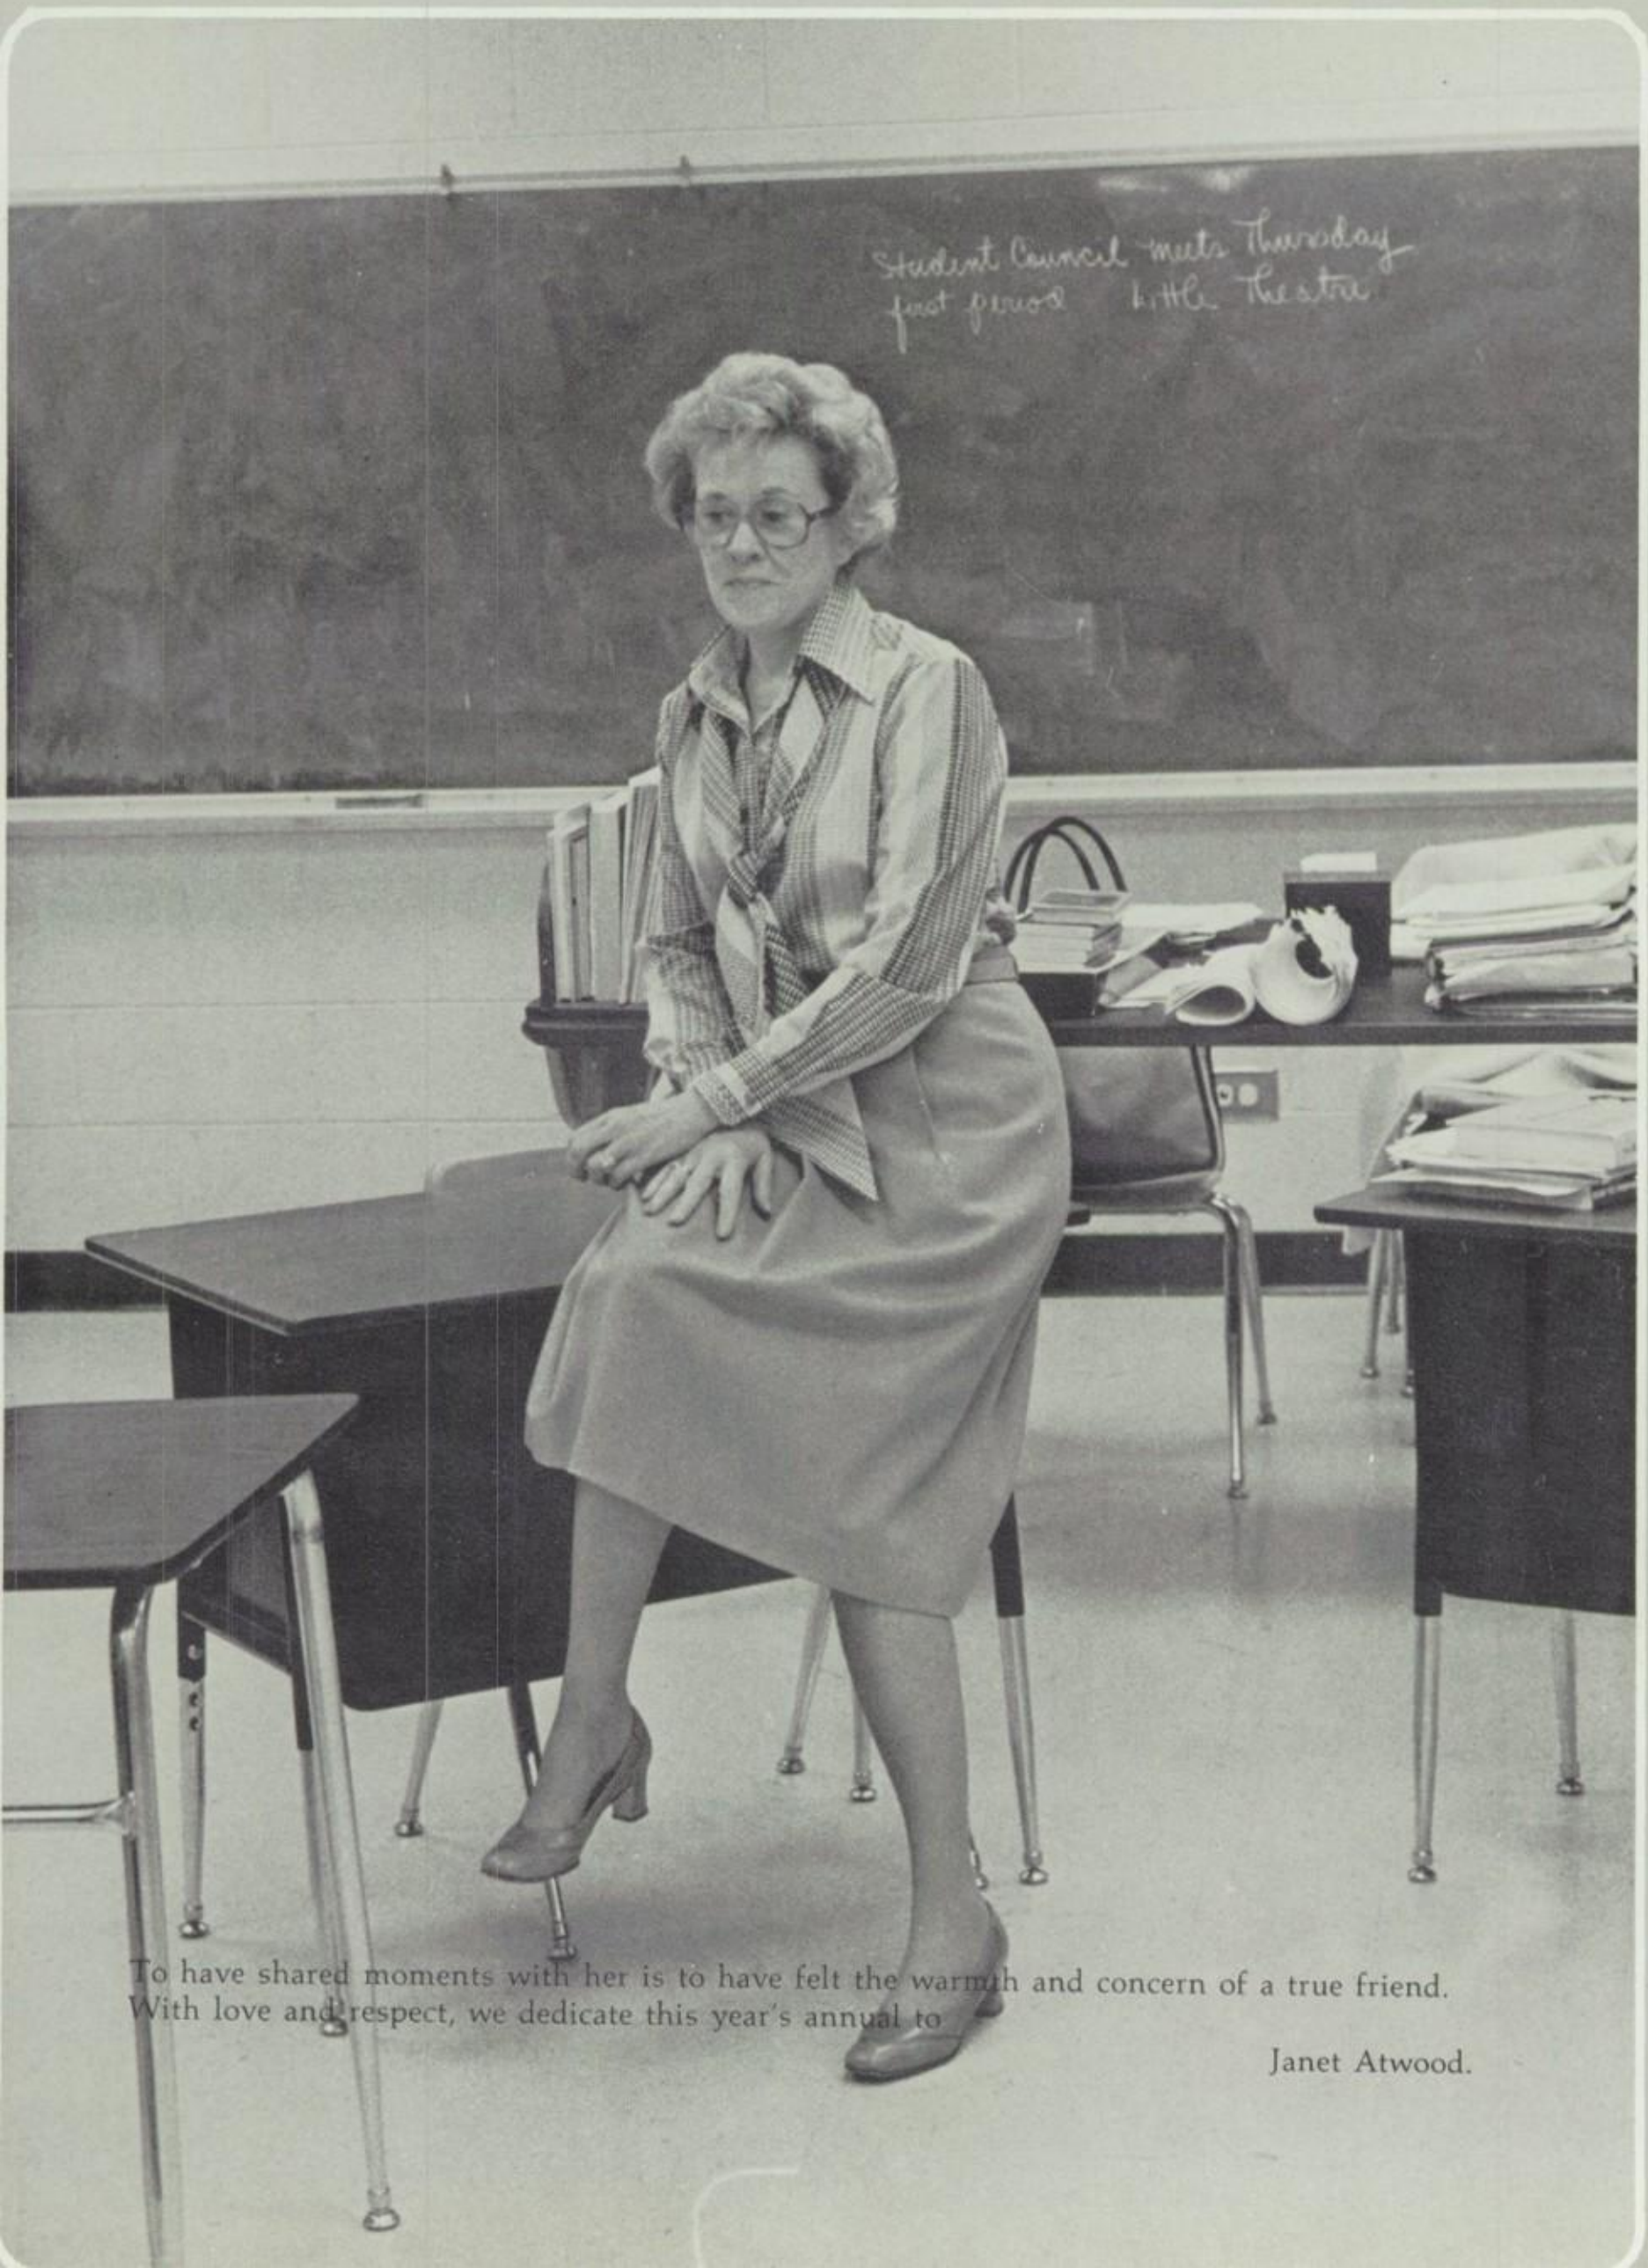
Reflections



To have shared moments with her is to have felt the warmth and concern of a true friend.
With love and respect, we dedicate this year's annual to Janet Atwood.

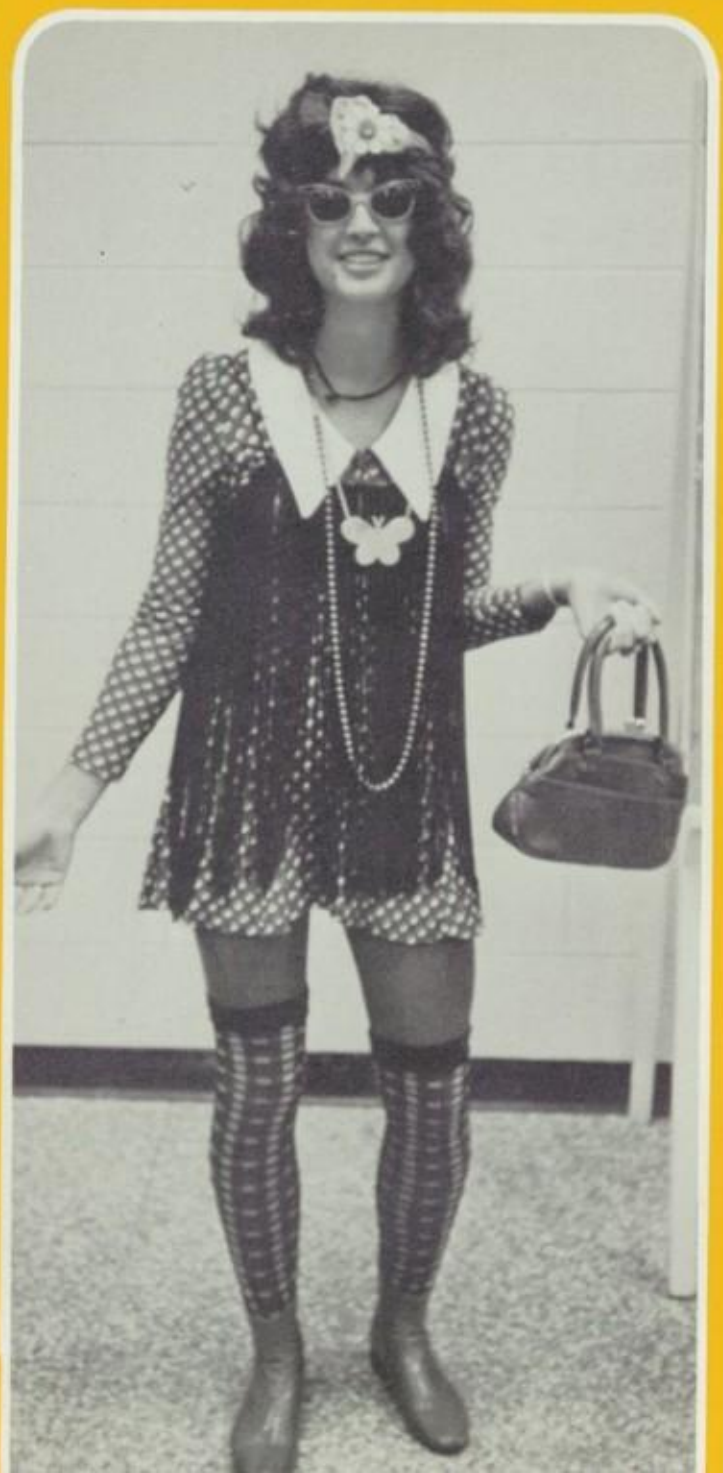
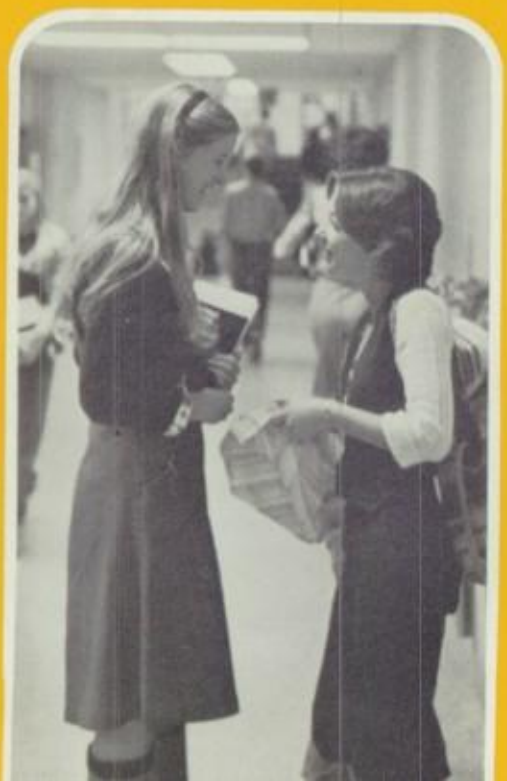
"Good morning ladies and gentlemen, welcome to the First Annual Flashing Clashing Fashion Show sponsored by the Riverwood Happy Homemakers. First down the runway we have Miss Marlene and Darlene Doolittle wearing matching gaucho outfits. Marlene's khaki green blouse matches Darlene's boots, and Darlene's sweater matches Marlene's gauchos. Don't they look lovely ... Now we have Arthur Farling dressed in casual jeans and sweater. The jeans are blue and the sweater is an eye-catching mixture of purple, green, and pink. This co-ordinated set is especially attractive on Arthur. The jumpsuit is a must for every wardrobe — and don't think you're seeing double. It's Butch and Priscilla. Butch is dressed in red checkered Wrangler overalls, and Priscilla is outfitted in a striped Wrangler jumpsuit. The highlight of the afternoon is Miss Mabel (the mouth) Gooch, who looks absolutely stunning in her full length scarlet jumper fringed with rhinestones. If Yves St. Laurent could see her now. Well, this concludes our first annual Flashing Clashing Fashion Show. Thank you for making it a smashing success. TaTa.



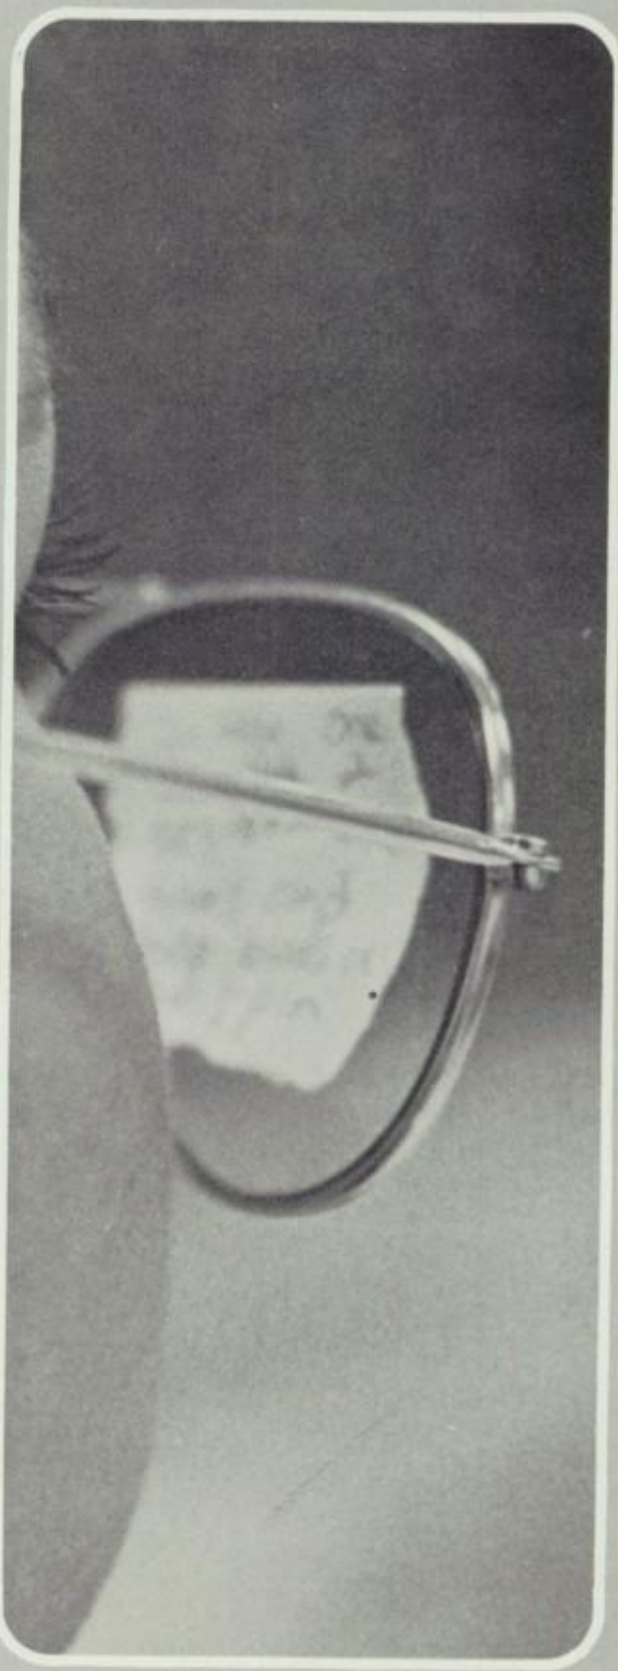


Today is the "Big Day" for Coach Boom-Boom's Driver's Education Class. (Marching Band Plays!) "Okay, Team — it's your last chance to really make it big. On this test, it's not how you play the game, it's whether you win or lose. Remember, GOOD SPORTMANSHIP counts. That means NO CHEATING! Pencils ready! On your mark, get set, GO!.

Arthur Farling begins the test. "Gee, I've got to pass this test. It's a matter of life and death! I didn't study again last night."

Meanwhile, right beside Arthur, Priscilla Pinkerton is already checking her answers. "Look at ole Prissy — checking her paper. Even if she flunked the test it wouldn't make any difference. If I could only turn in Prissy's paper instead of mine. (Lightbulb appears over Arthur's head). Oooh, Oooh, Oooh! I have an idea! I'll just lean over a little bit like this." Arthur nervously shifts in his seat thinking, "I'll just compare my answers with Prissy's." He strains to catch a glimpse of Priscilla's paper. KERPLOP! Arthur finds himself sprawled on the floor. He slowly looks up and finds the entire class glaring at him, the geek! Coach Boom-Boom towers over Arthur.

"Arthur, were you cheating? Moral of this story: Cheaters NEVER prosper!



"Hello Riverwood, this is Adam Bomb. Listen very carefully to my instructions, and no one will be hurt. I have planted a bomb somewhere in the vicinity of the school. I will provide you with three clues as to its whereabouts: 1) It is visible to any physically fit student. 2) It contains a variety of precious metals. 3) It is a case for the Six Million Dollar Man." Click. Mrs. Beatle, the devoted secretary reacts with calm assuredness. "Aaugh, It's a bomb, It's a bomb!" Mr. Kiley, the Robert Redford of Riverwood, nonchalantly strolls out of his office, "Mrs. Beatle, what is it this time-a mouse?" "It's a bomb, It's a bomb!" screams Mrs. Beatle. The debonair assistant principal activates the alarm system and takes the necessary steps in order to evacuate the building.

As the students wander the halls, frantic teachers plead with them to recognize the seriousness of the situation. "Oh, it's just a joke," laughs Butch placing his arm protectively around Buffy. "Of course, it's nothing to get excited about." Leaving the building, they mingle among the cliques in the crowded parking lot. An hour later Buffy is talking to Mabel out of sheer boredom. "Mabel, I think that I'll go practice my cheerleading. Oh, I forgot my pom- poms — be back in a sec." BOOM!

Mr. Robert Von Bruner, Home-Economics teacher, renowned for his German Chocolate Cake, systematically begins to arrange his desk.

"Here's Pile #1, Pile #2, Pile #3, and what's this? An overabundance of detention slips? I thought I had given out my quota for this week! I will not allow this to continue any longer!" Furious, Mr. Von Bruner smashes his fist into Priscilla's tuna casserole.

At the ringing of the bell, the students head for the sewing machines. Albert Academia Meriweather III, arms loaded with textbooks, steps through the door just as the tardy bell rings.

"Oh Mr. Meriweather, late again, you may fill out two detention slips. At the beginning of the quarter, I informed you of the consequences for tardiness."

"But Mr. Von Bruner, I was in the . . . "

"You are not being impertinent, are you Mr. Meriweather? Well I suppose I will have the pleasure of your company for three afternoons, sir."

Carefully surveying the room, Mr. Von Bruner notices the growing fear in his students' eyes. "I have been rather lenient concerning detention in the past. Perhaps I should toughen up — Prissy, where is your sewing box?"

"I left it at home, but I can share with Betsy. She doesn't mind and . . . "

"Please come up to my desk, Miss Pinkerton."

In sheer disbelief, Priscilla stumbles across the room and fills out a blue slip. "I've (eyes brimming with tears) never had detention before, Mr. Von Bruner."

"There's a first time for everything, Miss Pinkerton. By the way, your extra-credit tuna casserole was delicious. Let's see, I count five ladies and gentlemen without needles. Giving detention inconveniences me also, students Yet, a sewing class without needles is unthinkable. Do not forget to put the proper date."

With a slight smile, Mr. Von Bruner presumes organizing his desk. MISSION ACCOMPLISHED!

FEATURE

Senior Amy Pollock has been a Candy Striper at Northside Hospital for five years. She is also a member of the Explorers Club at Northside and has had the opportunity to observe operations for two years. During the summer of 1974, Amy worked in a Veteran's Hospital in Colorado.

Ellen Scott, a junior at Riverwood, is currently taking Karate at the Olympic Studio in Sandy Springs. She has been training since September and has already obtained her Yellow Belt. Ellen works out at the studio at least five times a week.

Senior George Gelly has a special knack for working with computers. He spends his days and nights with the computer here at Riverwood. He is making an attempt to get more computers incorporated into other Fulton County schools. George has been rewarded for his time and efforts in that Riverwood's computer is named "George."

Janice Sparacino, a senior at Riverwood, has been working at Chick-Fil-A for the past two and a half years. Because of her hard work and dedication, Janice has received a $1000 scholarship to the college of her choice.

Anne and Bill Van Horne team up to earn money in an unusual manner; They throw birthday parties for kids. Their package includes games, prizes, and cotton candy. The kids especially enjoy their clown costumes.

Junior Andrew Troop has been singing and acting in the Children's Civic Theatre for eight years. "Alice in Wonderland," "Rip Van Winkle," and "Oliver" are a few of the many plays he has performed in.

PEOPLE

Senior Pete Winkler has been playing golf since he was eight years old. Pete won the Southern Junior Tournament in Dothan, Alabama along with the P.G.A. Atlanta Juniors and the Georgia Region. Pete has had many scholarship offers and plans to become a professional golfer.

Karen Hinkle, a senior, and her horse H.L.A. Rafin are quite a team! They attended the Nationals in Louisville, Kentucky and are ranked in the top eighteen in equitation in the nation. In costume, Karen is ranked in the top ten in the nation.

Senior Jane Pattison enjoys dancing jazz, ballet, modern and mime. She danced with the Ruth Mitchell Company for three years. Last year Jane taught lessons to children at Hammond Park. Jane also performs mime at Cliff Valley Church, Northwest Unitarian Church and Sandy Springs Methodist Church.

Senior Wayne Myers has been riding motorcycles for five years. For the past two years, he has been racing all over the Southeast. After he finishes college, Wayne plans to race motorcycles professionally.

Lori Black, Julie Gresham and Loreene Fey are all three juniors at Riverwood. All of these girls are also members of the Atlanta School of Ballet Performing Company. Each girl had to try out to become a part of this very highly trained and demanding group. They must be extremely dedicated to Ballet, for they practice everyday of the week for several hours. FOREIGN

Håkan Petersson
Sweden

"The main difference between my school in Sweden and Riverwood is the student-teacher relationship. Here, the teachers do not seem to think that the students are old enough to take on responsibility. The teachers in my Swedish school seem to help the students in a more personal way. I think this is an advantage for the student. In Sweden you must study a little harder, but my school was not as strict as Riverwood."

EXCHANGE

Barbara Buttner
Germany

"One difference between my school in Germany and Riverwood is that we go to the Gymnasium. The Gymnasium is like high school plus two years of college. There are many subjects to take at the Gymnasium, and a very short school day. Therefore we do not have the same subjects everyday, but one schedule for the whole year. You have to pass the final examination to be able to go to the university. At the Gymnasium you must study a little harder, but the rules are not as strict as they are here at Riverwood."

It is always the eigth graders, because of their extreme naviete, that are so grossly taken advantage of. This year's eighth graders encountered a most original orientation. It is probably the same orientation the class of '77 faced in '71. However, it always seems to delight the upperclassmen to pick and poke fun at the poor innocent eighth graders. This year's eighth grade fell for numerous ploys of the upperclassmen; however, the most outstanding ones are the eighth grader's purchase of season tickets to last year's pep-rallies, the purchase of elevator passes, and passes to the indoor swimming pool.

Although it may seem hard to believe that anyone would buy season tickets to last year's pep-rallies, over one hundred tickets were sold before the eighth graders finally caught on. Stupid you say? "No," the eighth grade replies, "Simply SPIRITED!"

In addition to buying season tickets to the pep-rallies, passes for the elevator and the indoor swimming pool have been sold. You ask what elevator? What pool? Surely you have heard of and in fact used these outstanding features contained in our fine school. And if you, as upperclassmen, know not of these features, contact an eighth grader. I'm sure he'd be more than glad to tell you where to go!

By day these meek and meager sophomore souls wander the hollowed halls of Riverwood in search of a cozy class corner in which to rest their weary bones. At the sound of the blessed 3:10 PM bell, these individuals become horrors of the highways and terrors of the turnpikes en route to the parking lot, where they take to their "sets of wheels" much as a child pounces upon a newly purchased toy. Their motto: "Let the other driver beware . . ."

In the past, the mention of the Junior-Senior has haunted many money conscious eleventh and twelfth graders. Because of the cost factor, many of these experienced daters are reluctant to go. The Oger Price Patrol is aware of this fact and has devised a plan called the Eco No Frills Junior-Senior . Compare our prices and see if you don't agree that we are lower on this (*) many items.

First Class Plan		Eco No Frills Plan
Admission	$10.00	*Admission	Sneak In

I'M a SENIOR

LIVE FROM RIVERWOOD

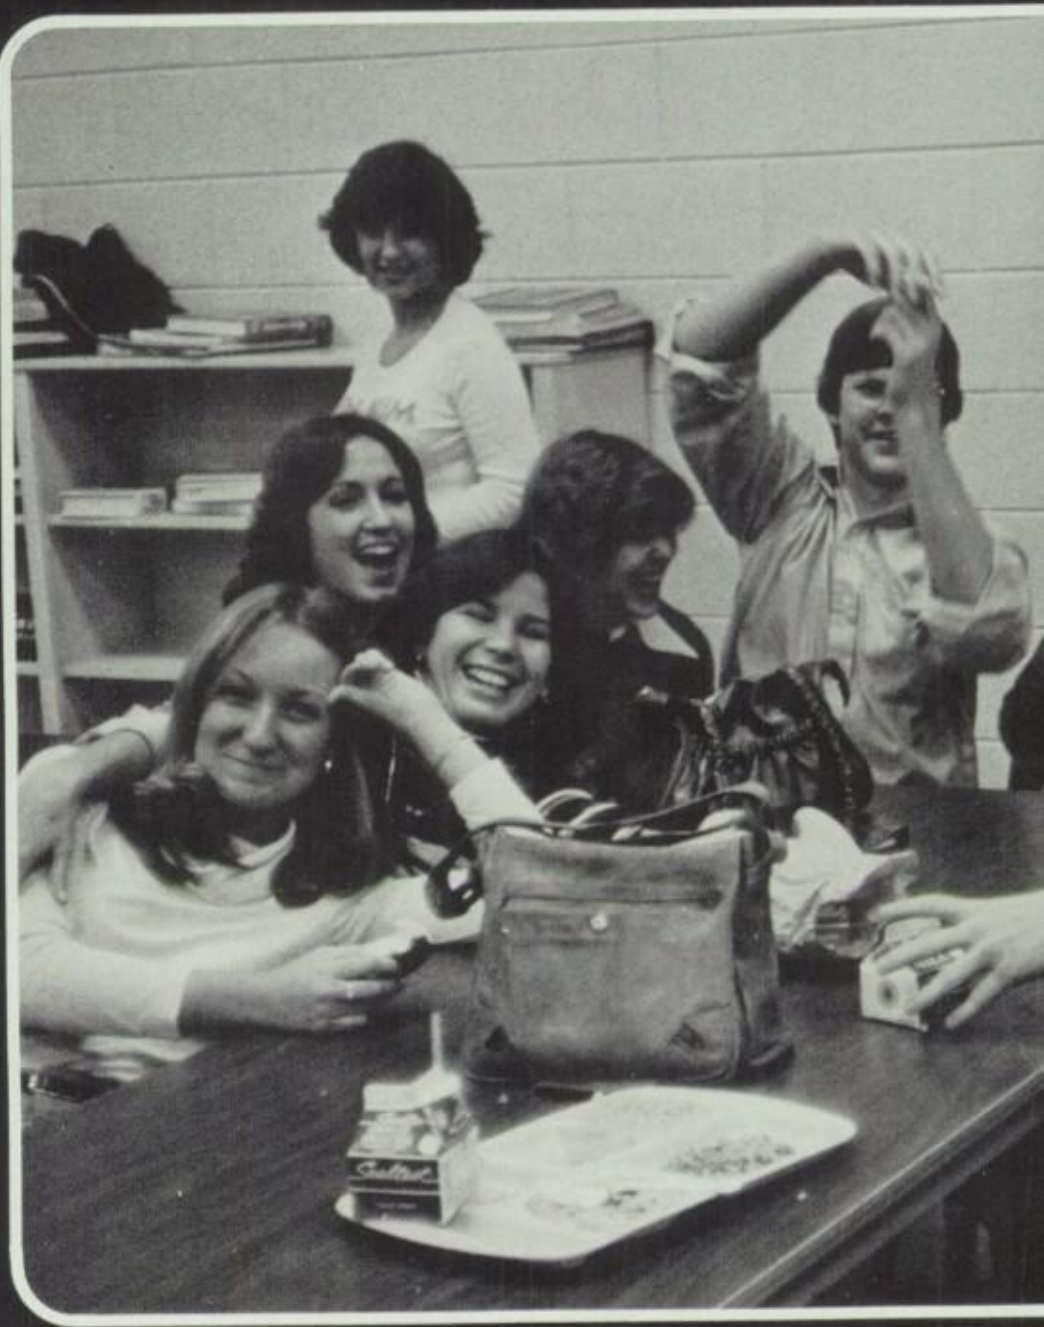
IT'S SATURDAY

HELLO, WE'RE SENIORS

Good evening, Ladies and Gentlemen. Welcome to Riverwood's first annual "Miss Beauty Pageant" Pageant. Tonight you will see the beautiful winners of our school's Holiday Queen, Valentine Queen, Raider Queen, Homecoming Queen, Dairy Queen, Miss Riverwood, Miss Chorale, Miss TAG, and Miss Nutra-lunch contests. They will compete for the grand prize — the honor of being chosen the best beauty pageant contestant at Riverwood.

For a preview of tonight's entertainment: Miss TAG will recite pages 135-141 of Webster's New English Dictionary; our own Homecoming Queen will demonstrate how she, on that cold winter night, concealed a thick winter coat under her white halter gown; finally, Miss Nutra-Lunch, before our very eyes, will chemically determine the true ingredients of the famous Nutra-burger.

Now, without further ado, ON WITH THE SHOW!



NIGHT DEAD AND YOU'RE NOT

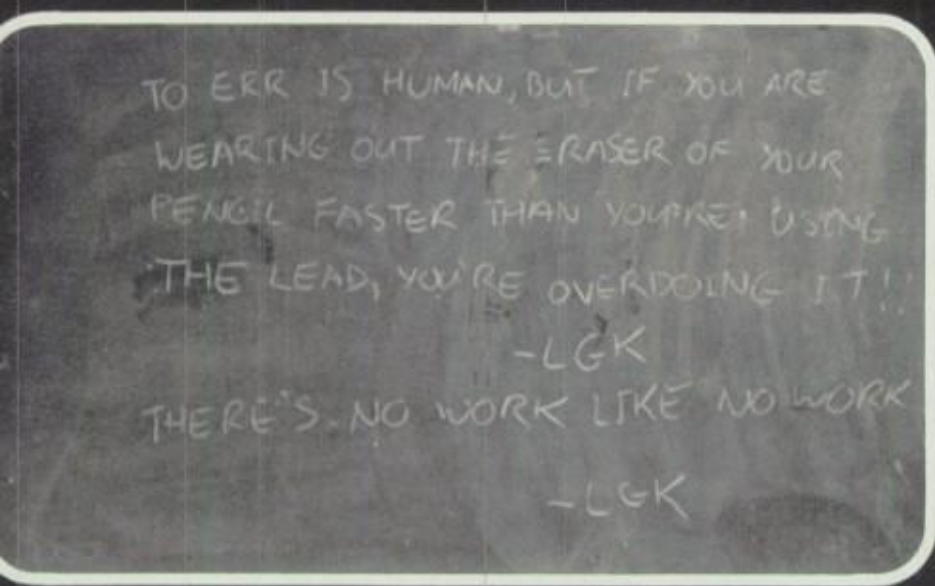
NEWS UPDATE

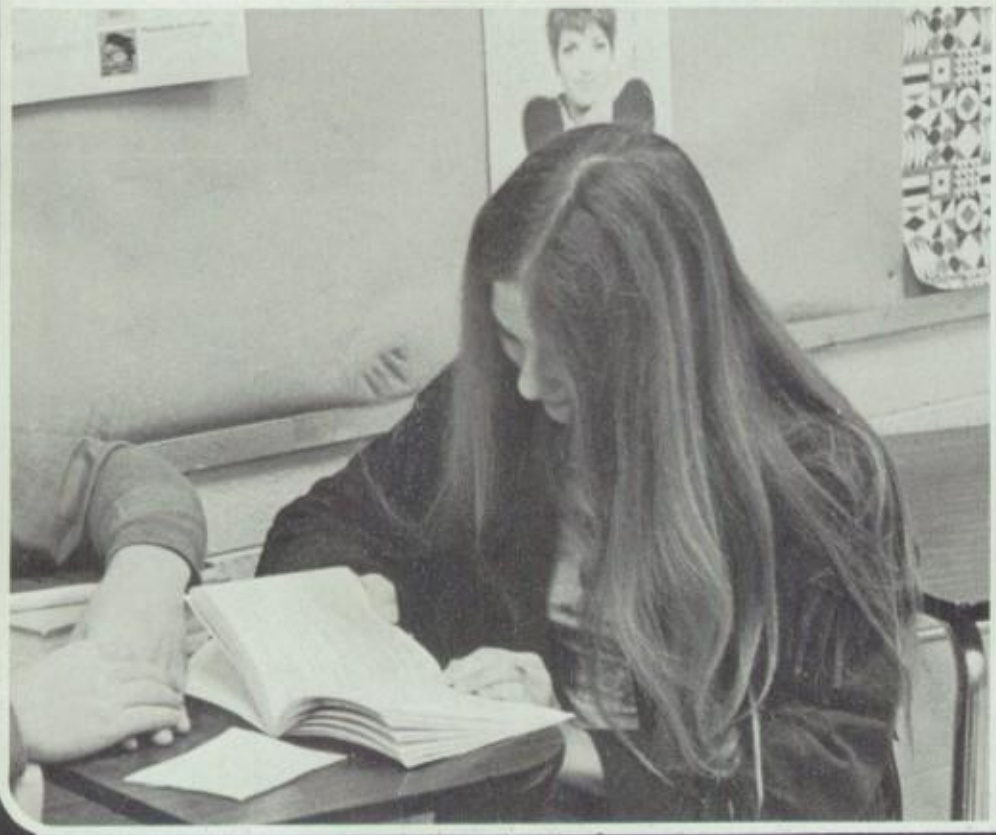
. . . The Riverwood senior, in the course of writing his best-selling autobiography for Development 504, is confronted with the following questions:

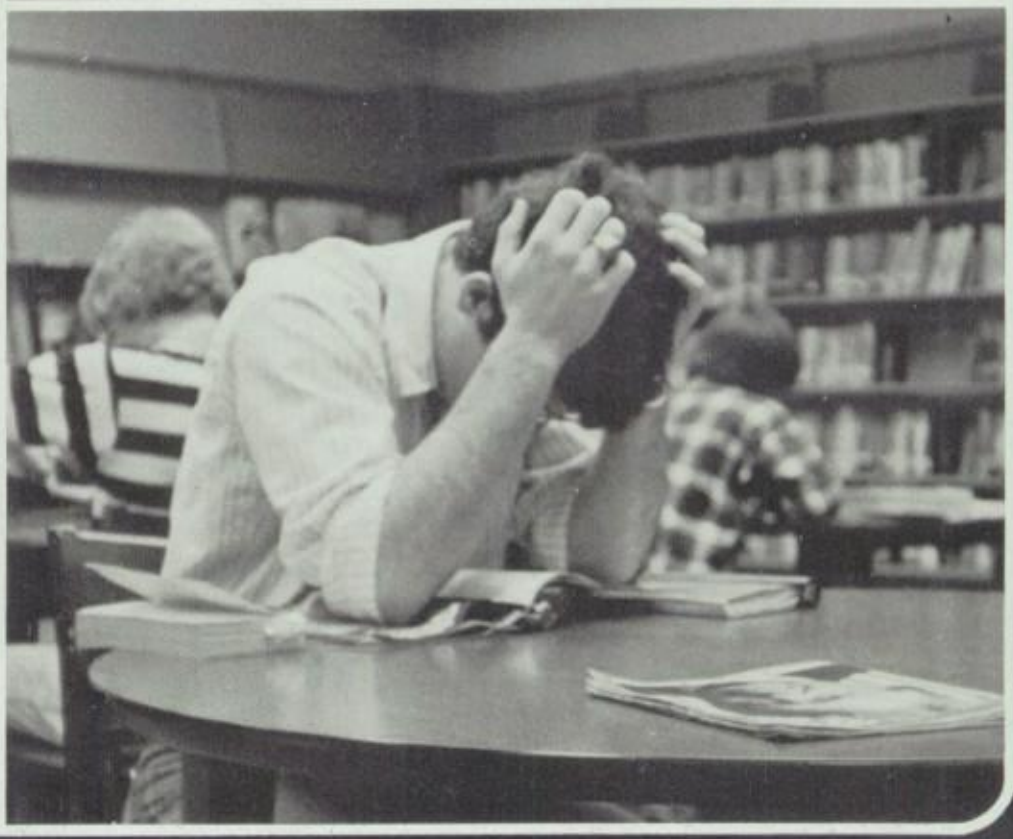
Who am I?
How long does it have to be?
Does spelling count?
Ink or pencil?
Can we write on both sides of the page?
Does it have to be true?

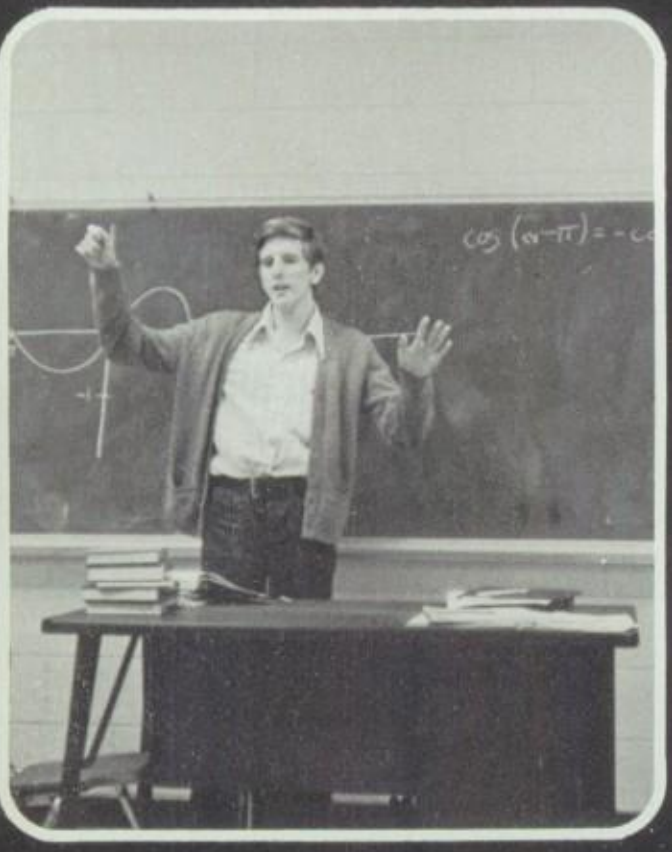
. . . Seniors race through courses to graduate early . . . Excuse me — what's all this fuss about racehorses? What about all the other kinds of horses: the quarter horse, Morgan horse, plow horse? It's not fair to favor racehorses . . . No, ma'am, that was "race through courses," not "racehorses." . . . Oh, I'm sorry. Never mind.

. . . After completing a quarter of Development, we are proud to announce that the Senior Class is developing very nicely . . .









Dear College-bound Senior,

We are happy to have recieved your response to our matchbook advertisement. We are sure that you share the same interests as students here at Party University (PU).

If you are not yet acquainted with PU, we're not surprised. However, PU has a distinct reputation. Our 1.3 acre campus is located in the buzzing metropolis of Havapardee, Georgia. We recommend a campus visit. Bring the family. Friends welcome — parents, too.

We look forward to seeing you.

Sincerely,

James S. Crudup
Director of Admissions

FOR A TASTE OF HOW SHE LIVES, TRY BEING A SENIOR

As a senior at Riverwood, Mary Etta has survived solely on garbage thrown at her by the Riverwood curriculum. In a relief effort undertaken by the administration, she has been bestowed with several senior privileges such as a personally monogrammed red token, the gymnasium fumigation, the security of a closed campus, numerous bomb threats, and a ten cent rebate on lunch. However, it is feared that only graduation will relieve Mary's suffering. She may, after five trying years, depart happy with the satisfaction of being immunized from cronic Senioritis and the dreaded Beefaroni Blues.

Good afternoon, class. Your first assignment will be due on March 17. Papers must be turned in at the beginning of the class. After that, it will be considered late, and you will receive a zero. The topic is YOUR PERSONAL STUDY HABITS ...

Priscilla Pinkerton — March 10
Mrs. Norma Lee

My personal study habits include reading over my class notes, thoroughly scanning the chapter in the textbook, and having my mother and father quiz me. This is only the first step. After that ...

Butch Bradley — March 16
Mrs. Lee

Well, to tell the truth, school is sort of a secondary thing to me. Because of all my sports activities, I barely have enough time to study. Usually, I study in between practices and on the field ...

Albert Academia Meriweather III — March 14
Mrs. Norma Lee

My brilliant intellect enables me to utilize my time in other fields of endeavor. I have no desire or need to study; nevertheless, my academic standing surpasses that of any other student at Riverwood ... Therefore ...

Buffy Brady — March 16
Mrs. Lee

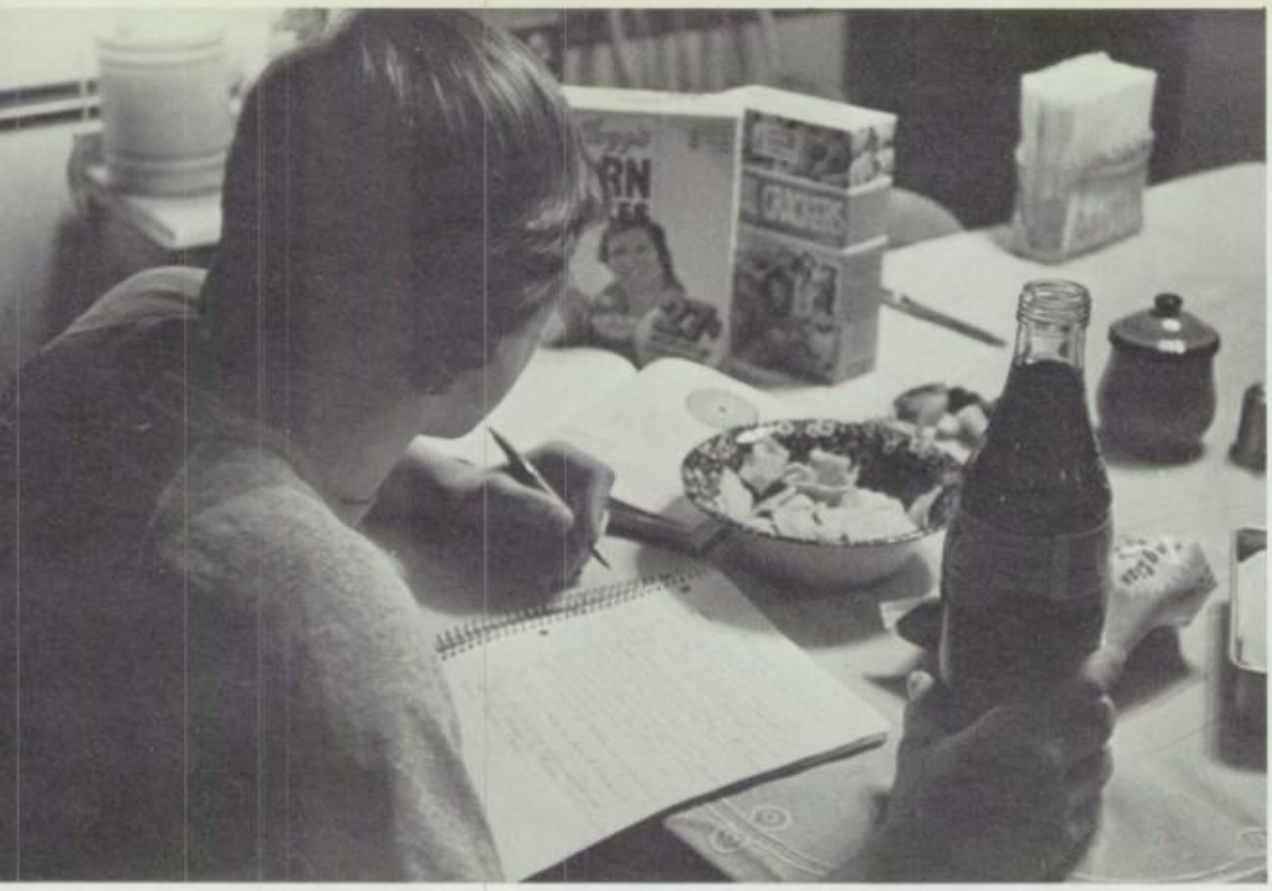
Well, I really enjoy school because I'm so popular!!! Studying isn't my favorite thing to do. What I really enjoy is dating, shopping, and of course cheering! Anyway, back to studying ...

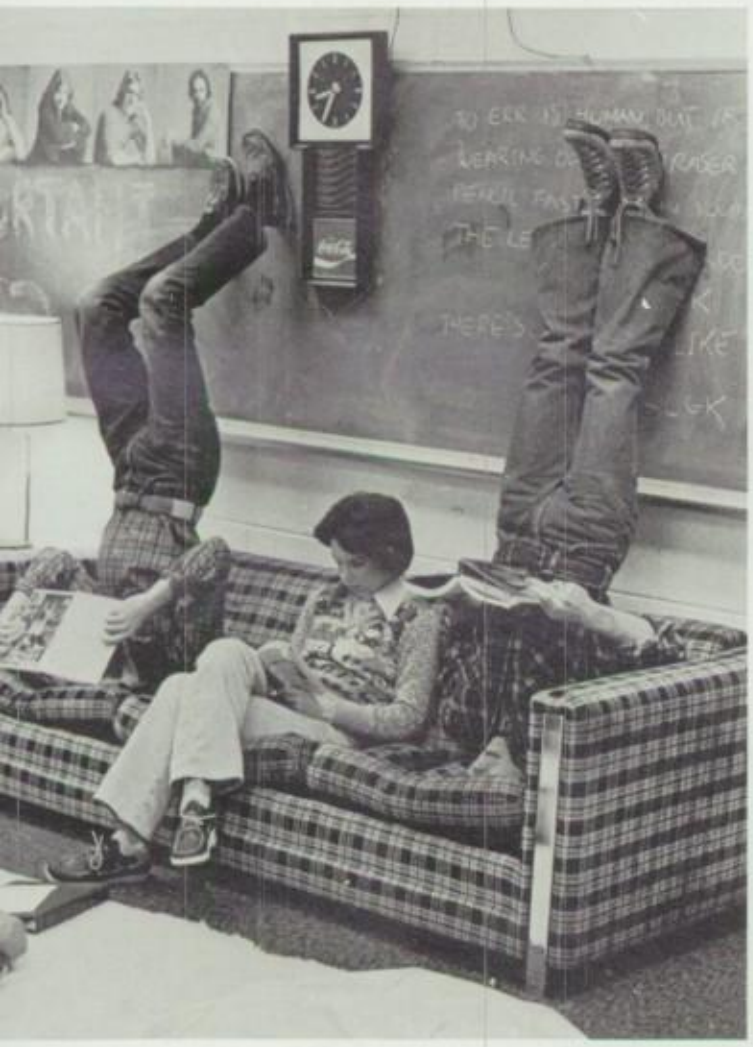
Bernie Carroway

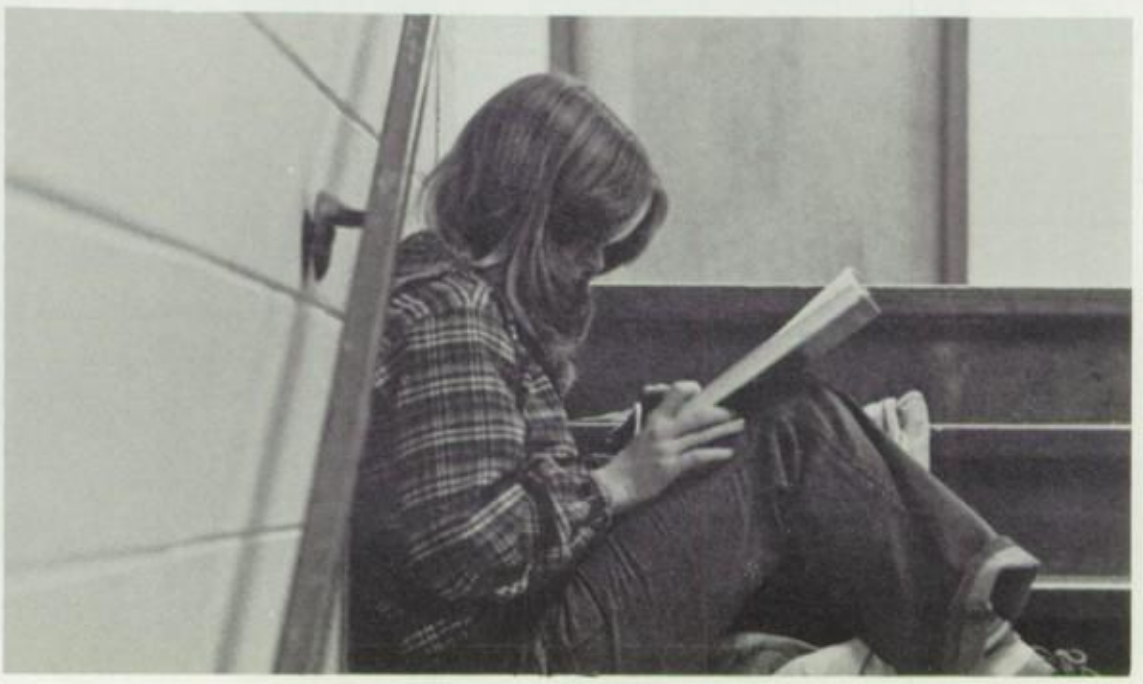
I don't studie.

Ms. Lee — Arthur Farling
March 17

I have invented a fool-proof method for studying. At 11:30 p.m. I begin. Equipped with my stereo head phones, my portable T.V. and my AM-FM radio, I make my way to the kitchen. There, I look over my notes as I consume most of the refrigerator, pantry, and freezer. Then ...







"I wonder if she has ever noticed me. Did she notice my brand new ten-speed bike when she drove past me this morning? Does she know that I'm the one who sent her the carnation on Valentine's Day . . . slipped the love notes under her locker? I'm going to call her. This time I really mean it!"

Ring, Ring . . .

"Hello, Raquel speaking (in a soft sensuous whisper)."

Click

"I can't go through with it. This is driving me crazy. This is the seventh time this week I've called her. Is it too much to think that I, a lowly eighth- grader, would have a chance with this gorgeous older woman. There's no turning back now . . . the power of positive thinking."

Ring, Ring . . .

"Hello, this is Raquel. Who's speaking please?"

"Hello (stammering) Raquel . . . You don't know me, but this is Clarence. I've been watching you for the last few months, I was thinking that (voice cracks) maybe we could get together this, you know, weekend?"

"Well, I will have to check my calendar. (She flips through empty pages). I'd love to . . . what's your name again?"

"I know what a busy schedule you have. Don't worry — I've been hurt before . . . wait a minute . . . you will?"

"It sounds deliciously wonderful — see you this weekend."

"O.K. Bye. (click) An older woman . . . I wonder if she'll be upset when she finds out that my parents are driving?"

Aries: The Ram

If you have ever bumped into a bossy, energetic person who greets you with an instant smile, you've crossed the path of a Ram. Watch out! Aries wishes to be first in everything, and anyone who gets in the Ram's way will see fireworks. The sexy innocence of this sign results in many brief love affairs. With the strength of the very honest, Aries conquers life's challenges. Famous personality: Charlie Chaplin

Taurus: The Bull

Do you find yourself craving Granola and sunflower seeds at strange hours of the night? Don't worry, you are not related to Euell Gibbons. You are merely a solid, good-natured Taurean. Down- to-earth, the Bull is conservative in his manner and in his speech. The best host of the zodiac, Taurus is fond of food, drink, and comfort — a connoisseur of beauty. Don't be afraid to place your trust in a Taurean: this sign of reliability will be your Rock of Gibralter. Famous personality: Barbra Streisand

Gemini: The Twins

Think you're seeing double — it's not uncommon if you're friends with a Gemini. You're sure to be charmed by this fast talking con-artist. This sign of intellect often reads the dictionary with delight. Unconventional and exciting to be with, your Gemini friend will lead you into one adventure after another. Famous personality: Paul McCartney

Cancer: The Crab

Oftentimes seen staring at the ocean in silent contemplation, the moonchild is the sign of intense moods. Cancer can laugh wildly at slapstick comedy; however, at the slightest hint of cruelty, the Crab will be hurt deeply and withdraw from the world of reality for a time. Due to Cancerians' strong attachments to Mother, they tend to marry very late in life. A gentle romantic, Cancer is a good companion in front of a fireplace on a rainy evening. Famous personality: Freddie Prinze

Leo: The Lion

You are destined to be in the spotlight if you are an egotistical Leo. Resembling Robin Hood, the Lion loves to be gallant and generous provided there is an audience. Leo is the sign of creation, but unless he is allowed to lead, he will refuse to offer his talents. The Lion needs the freedom to wander in his search for identity. If you believe in being open with your opinions, be careful! When the Lion's pride is wounded, he roars. Famous personality: Jackie Onassis

Virgo: The Virgin

Being a perfectionist, Virgo won't stop worrying until every piece of the puzzle is in place. You are more apt to run into Virgos at a small get-together, for they despise large parties. Virgos often take on too many responsibilities; however, they are unquestionably dependable. If you have extravagant tastes, don't bother with Virgos. They are extremely prudent in handling money — almost to the point of being cheap. Virgo will always be a loyal and devoted friend. You'll always be in good hands with Virgo. Famous personality: Sophia Loren

Libra: The Balance

Everyone has their favorite city. Washington D.C. is definitely the Libra's favorite place to be. Being very intelligent and good-looking, the Libra is a natural politician. They are good listeners; however, take heed, they believe everything they hear. The artist of the Zodiac, Libra deals only with the harmonious and beautiful aspects of life. Famous personality: John Lennon

Scorpio: The Scorpion

If you're looking for a Tiger and are not afraid of the Scorpion's sting, you're ready for the challenge of the deadly Scorpio. On the surface, Scorpio displays cool confidence, yet underneath, intense feelings are bubbling. Ruled by passion, Scorpios often hurt the ones they love. The magnetism of Scorpio is undefineable; once you enter his world, there is no turning back. Famous personality: Richard Burton

Sagitarius: The Archer

No matter how the dice roll, the Archer is an incurable optimist. His words, like arrows, are direct and straight. Sagitarians are not fooled by superficial people. They feel it is their personal duty to defend the weak and the defeated. Ready for risk and adventure, the Sagitarian will be the first to purchase a ticket to the Moon. Famous personality: Frank Sinatra

Capricorn: The Mountain Goat

Perhaps the best way to spot a Capricorn is by his shrewd determination and dignity. Always seeking social status, the Mountain Goat overcomes any obstacle with sheer persistence. Because of the Goat's hard, calculating mind, Capricorn often makes an excellent criminal. Having a conservative outlook, Capricorn respects religion and authority. If you are a Capricorn, your driving ambition will someday bring you fame! Famous personality: Richard Nixon

Aquarius: The Water-Carrier

Do you want to change the world? Aquarians are forever searching for the ideal society. Refusing to conform, the Water-Carrier isn't concerned with deep friendships, and often suffers from a sense of isolation. The Aquarian fights for lost causes, for he believes in his dreams even after they have been shattered. He lives in the future because the future holds hope. Famous personality: Paul Newman

Pisces: The Fish

As man cannot live without water, the Piscean cannot live without dreams. Pisceans feel they must express their imaginations through the arts. Because they are the most sensitive sign of the Zodiac, Pisceans often fall for flattery and mistake it for love. They are masters of satire and wit and are able to charm their way out of any situation. If you ever want to speak to a Piscean, look straight into their eyes. Famous personality: Marlon Brando

WE'RE No. 1
Eh, Boo-boo... (We love ya) (Tee-Hee)

Because the American public has had an obsession for "Soap Operas" in this past year, we feel that this year's theme for Rihiscan is appropriate. This year's annual is an original approach to presenting the typical, day to day events of the school year. We hope to evoke a few laughs as well as to shed light upon some serious situations which are frequently disregarded. Although we stereotype different characters into distinct groups, we are not implying that each student should be catagorized into any specific social group at Riverwood. This year we have attempted to add some personality to our book by satirizing the students and the administration at Riverwood and the predicaments they get themselves into.

Without the reassurance of concerned friends and fellow staff members, I doubt we could have made it through this year in one piece. I am grateful for the relentless hours of hard work and sacrifice that this year's staff has shown in order to create an exceptional annual. I wish to thank James Gelly for the clever caricatures of the administration which he sketched for the annual. A special thanks goes to Billy Allen for the artistic photograph which he contributed to the annual. Glen McMahon, a staff member with outstanding artistic talent, has been a blessing to this year's staff. His exquisite artwork has been a real asset to the success of this year's annual. I appreciate the expert advice of Mr. Dan Troy of Josten's American Yearbook Company. I am grateful to Mrs. Malone for taking on the burdensome responsibility of organizing the annual staff and always offering us her guidance. I hope this annual achieves instant success just as the new Mary Hartman series has. Good luck to the upcoming staff: Put everything that you have into the 1977-1978 annual.

Debra Moughamian

Stan,
Why in the hell did'nt you get anyone to sign your annual!?
I can't believe we
were'nt in any classes
together, but I guess
some of us got it and some of us don't. And I got it (brains that is) I am real glad you and Helen got back together, I mean you guys were apart for so long... 1 hour! Is Michelle really your cousin, because I remember last year Do you David young that told me she was the wasn't. year for you in 3 years that this was the first year together almost the whole we haven't gone together and year. Remember Halloween could a year, like I you liked you and Cathy. Lord, I have at died
Helen's party so much. that was all of that Horse Shit. No it walking through it was gross
Julie was wasn't teaching weird me how to spell when I wrote all that it was in June after Helen's birthday, sometime it is July 9th. Beth is already, now the night, well she is spending spent the night. We went to see the Deep. we have been talking in about you all Giberish night. Just Kidding I don't know

in the hell to speak it. A couple of weeks ago I spent the night with Beth, we were talking on the phone to Bill he wanted us to sneak out with him and mark, but we said we could'nt because of Beth's alarm, so we did'nt. The next morning me and Beth were in the bathroom washing our face and mrs. Bothick came in and goes, "Kathy get in here right now... Beth Ann you too." It scared the hell out of me. So Mrs. Bothick told us we had been acused of sneaking out last night. when we told her we did'nt she believed us then she said that the phone was for me. I got on the phone and it was mrs. Abdon she said, "Kathy, Bill said he was with you all last night."

I told her I wasn't, but she did'nt believe me. She told me she was calling my mother. we got off the phone and I could'nt figure out why Bill would do that, except we had gotten in a fight the night before. Beth and I went out to the club and called I asked mrs. Abdon if I could talk to Bill to see why he said that, she said yes, but I am listening in. I said, "Great. Bill got on the phone and told me the reason he said that was because he did'nt think his mom would call mine, that day when I got my mother thought I had spent the night with him. But she believed me. Bill can't talk on the phone, go anywhere, or see anyone the whole summer. I know I'm not suppose to tell new thing, but I'm suppose to remember old things but I'm just taking up room, because no one signed your annual. Better go eat breakfast.

Love ya always,
Kathe

Hi!
This is gonna be short cause I know ya don't want me to sign your annual! But I want you to know I had a great time at the farm and your mom was so sweet to take us up there. I had fun at Helen's too but I really didn't want to go swimming. Maybe next year Helen can bring you some more gum. Hope we can be better friends next year. Don't raise too much hell! Love ya Beth

(Have fun at the lake)
